Radio Bill Is Speeded In Commons

BROADCASTING MEASURE GIVEN SECOND READING

Spokesmen For All Parties in House Endorse Proposal to Create Commission and Nationalize Radio

FULL CONTROL NEEDED, DECLARES BENNETT

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 18.—Second reading was given the government's radio control bill in the Commons this afternoon. The bill makes provision for the establishment of a commission to take over control of broadcasting throughout the Dominion. Spokesmen from every party in the House endorsed the measure.

Second reading of the bill was moved by Premier Bennett.

The bill, said Mr. Bennett, followed in general the report of the Commons committee, and was based on the principle which the government believed should be adopted, involving as it did the essential requirements without which radio broadcasting in Canada must fail.

FULL CONTROL. Canada must have complete control over broadcasting in Canada, he declared, without interference from foreign agencies. Without such control radio could not be employed as an agency for development of the national consciousness.

SESSION WILL END NEXT WEEK

Prorogation at Ottawa Expected Thursday, May 26; Progressives Dissentient

Ottawa, May 18.—Prorogation of Parliament toward the end of next week is the expectation of the government, according to reports current in well-informed circles here. Thursday, May 26, or the following day at the latest is mentioned as the date on which the session will end.

It was understood this question was discussed at a Conservative caucus today, and hopes were pinned for prorogation on one of these two dates. Agreement with the official opposition is believed to have been reached on that point, but the attitude of the Progressives and of some individuals among the Quebec Liberals is uncertain.

The Conservative caucus to-day presented T. E. Simpson, the government whip, with a silver rose bowl, in appreciation of his services.

TRIAL DATE SET. Miami, Fla., May 18.—Capt. W. N. Lancaster, former British army aviator, pleaded not guilty at his arraignment in circuit court here yesterday on a charge of murdering Haden Clarke, youthful writer and fiancé of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian flier, and Judge H. F. Atkinson designated July 11 as the date for trial.

Liberals Urge Duty On Gasoline Be Cut

Will Ask Commons to Vote For Duties on All Oil Refinery Products Be Reduced

Ottawa, May 18.—C. E. Bothwell, K.C., Liberal, Swift Current, Sask., today was prepared to move in the Commons, seconded by Dr. T. F. Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch, Sask., a proposal that the fixing of gasoline values for duty purposes be discontinued, and a suggestion that there be a reduction in the existing duties on all oil refinery products.

The motion, expected as an amendment to the formal motion of R. C. Matthews, Conservative, Toronto East Centre, chairman of the Commons committee on banking and commerce, for adoption of the report of the committee, embodying the views of the Conservative members, but not the Liberals, that the price of gasoline in Canada is "not unreasonably high."

The report, drafted after a lengthy investigation of the oil refinery situation in Canada and the United States in order to ascertain the causes of the spread in price between the two countries, was tabled in the House yesterday afternoon.

SEA DISASTER DEAD CHECKED

Seventy Are Missing Following Burning of French Ship in Arabian Sea

Passengers Were Making Merry When Fire Broke Out

Paris, May 18.—The Messageries Maritimes, owners of the motorship Georges Philippiar, which burned in the Arabian Sea Monday, announced today fifty of the passengers and crew were known to be missing and the number might go higher when the check was complete.

The list of those rescued showed the following names: Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill and two children, and Mrs. Van Pelt, three children and a maid.

MUCH MERRIMENT. Aden, Arabia, May 18.—There was such an uproar of gaiety aboard the French motorship Georges Philippiar that when the fire broke out on Monday passengers failed to realize the significance of the warning, survivors of the burned vessel declared here today.

Survivors said that all during the homeward voyage from the Persian Gulf there had been much gaiety and dancing, and when the fire broke out the passengers thought it was only another stunt.

The first lifeboat to leave the burning vessel floated about for five hours before its occupants were picked up by the British steamship Mahoud. The Mahoud and the Contractor, also a British steamship, brought 254 survivors here yesterday.

The Georges Philippiar still was burning today, her position being approximately thirty miles north of Cape Guardafui, Italian Somaliland.

Among the missing were believed to be the daughter and son-in-law of Louis Alfred, chief justice of French Indo-China, who with his wife was rescued.

OPEN DRIVE ON JOBLESS ALIENS

Vancouver, May 18.—An intensive drive against aliens who have entered the province illegally and are obtaining city and municipal relief may be launched as a result of proposed conference of police bodies of districts concerned.

Mother Buffalo Pines Away On Death Of Son

Doctor Says Influenza Caused Death, But Park Attendants Know It Was A Broken Heart; Baby Died A Few Weeks Ago

The toll of a domestic tragedy in Beacon Hill Park was increased to two lives yesterday evening when "Victoria," the mother buffalo in the animal enclosure, passed away.

Victoria had been ill for the last two or three days and a veterinary attended her. The veterinary stated that an attack of influenza resulted in her demise, but the attendants at the park who have watched her carefully day by day feel sure she died of a broken heart.

It was only a few weeks ago that Victoria gave birth to her second baby since she came here from Wainwright, Alberta. The baby was a spry young chap, looking much the same as his brother, born a year ago, which has since gone to the Peace River country.

A few days after he was born the 1932 offspring died. It was rumored that Albert, the male buffalo, had given the young fellow a heavy bunt or two, causing fatal injuries.

For days afterward Victoria moped in the animal enclosure. She stood under a tree and would have nothing to do with her husband. She was inconsolable. She did not relish her food and assumed an attitude of antipathy to everything.

MOTHER'S SICKNESS. Then, at the end of last week, it became apparent that her main ailment was elsewhere than in her mother's heart. Dr. H. Keown, veterinary surgeon, was called by the park keepers, but despite all his efforts to save the animal she passed away yesterday evening. The doctor diagnosed it as influenza.

Park authorities now face the problem of finding another mate for Albert. It will be remembered that he and Victoria were brought here from Wainwright through the efforts of Alderman W. T. Straith and the Junior Chamber of Commerce some years ago. They lived happily in the park until tragedy intervened and were known to thousands of Victorians who visit the park.

COALITION IS JAPAN PLAN

If Suzuki Forms Group Ministry Army Leaders' Support Is Anticipated

Pledge of Support For Army's Economic Programme Is Expected

Canadian Press. Tokyo, May 18.—Leaders of the Seiyukai Party decided to-day to offer the olive branch to the army and proposed a compromise on a coalition party government to succeed the cabinet of the slain Premier, Suoyoshi Inukai.

The compromise proposal followed an ultimatum from the army demanding a non-partisan national government. Army officials threatened to boycott a party government if one should be formed.

Home Minister Kishibu Suzuki, president of the Seiyukai Party and in line for the premiership, conferred with army officials to-day, but the result was not immediately disclosed.

One high official said the army leaders were ready to assist in the formation of a coalition government, if the Premier would pledge support for the army's economic programme.

"JAFSIE'S" SEARCH SO FAR FAILS

Associated Press. Mt. Vernon, N.Y., May 18.—Dr. John E. Condon (Jafsie), Lindbergh case negotiator, left police headquarters here at 2:45 o'clock yesterday after examining 1,900-rod gallery photographs without finding a clue to the abductors with whom he had negotiations.

The survey was made with Chief of Detectives Michael Silverstein. Dr. Condon indicated his intensive scrutiny of the photos "gave no encouragement."

VALERA IS TO VISIT OTTAWA

Expects to Head Irish Delegation to Empire Economic Conference

Canadian Press. Dublin, Irish Free State, May 18.—President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State to-day said he would personally attend the Imperial Economic Conference in Ottawa in July if business did not interfere.

The president, making his first move to organize a delegation to the Ottawa conference, did not name other members of the Free State representation, although he said it was likely three ministers of his government would accompany him.

The only other dominion which has not named a complete delegation to the conference is New Zealand. All members of the British Commonwealth have accepted invitations of Premier Bennett to attend the Ottawa session.

Fifteen Children In Best Island Family

Mrs. J. E. Williams of Wascana Street Chuckles As She Gives Information Which Ends Search and Shatters Claims of Proud Parents With Only Thirteen Children; Seventy-year-old Widow Proudly Tells of Nine Girls and Six Boys, Most of Whom Reside on Vancouver Island

The search for the largest family on Vancouver Island ended with a surprise to-day as investigation of yesterday's report proved correct and all records were beaten with a family of fifteen children, all living on Vancouver Island. The family group numbers sixteen as the father died two years ago. The largest groups previously reported in a two weeks' search numbered fifteen, including the parents.

Mrs. J. E. Williams, 3241 Wascana Street, the seventy-year-old widow mother of fifteen children enjoyed the surprise she was springing as she gave the information that wrested the honors from the smaller families with only thirteen children.

"Yes, I have an all-Vancouver Island family of fifteen children. There are nine girls and six boys. Two were born in Ontario but the rest were born in Victoria and all were raised in Victoria and Deerholme, where we used to farm," she said.

CURTIS BAIL IS SET HIGH

Hopewell, N.J., May 18.—Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, to-day confirmed the fact that a request for $25,000 had been made upon Col. Charles A. Lindbergh for the return of his abducted baby in connection with the negotiations conducted at Norfolk, Va.

WOMAN AIDS POLICE HUNT

New Jersey Chief Tells of Efforts of Ruth Gay in Lindbergh-Curtis Inquiry

Dean Dobson-Peacock, at Norfolk, Va., Accused of Withholding Aid

Associated Press. Hopewell, N.J., May 18.—Police to-day disclosed a woman was helping them determine the true and complete facts concerning the activities of John Hughes Curtis, fake negotiator with the abductors of the Lindbergh baby.

The mid-afternoon statement of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, read as follows: "Miss Ruth Gay came voluntarily to these headquarters with an investigator from this point last night and has been actively co-operating with the police in an effort to determine the actual facts of Mr. Curtis's activities and to vindicate herself so far as an inferred implication of her connection with this deception might exist."

"Miss Gay is being questioned and a statement is being taken which will be investigated and checked. There has been nothing developed up to this time which would indicate Miss Gay was knowingly involved with any intention of deceiving either Col. Lindbergh or the authorities."

Col. Schwarzkopf's statement made the first mention there has been during the investigation of the name of Miss Ruth Gay and it was not immediately determined who she was or what connection she had with Curtis or other figures in the case.

DEAN'S POSITION. Col. Schwarzkopf, in his statement, said Rev. Dean Dobson-Peacock, one of the Norfolk negotiators, had shown "no desire to co-operate with the authorities here, although he was told he was involved by the statements of Curtis and his presence was wanted for the purpose of facing Curtis. He has refused to answer telegrams sent to his home in Norfolk."

NO EARLY POLL, TOLMIE STATES

And Not Intending to Resign Premiership He Tells Ottawa Interviewer

Canadian Press. Ottawa, May 18.—"They won't be so anxious to have their parade when they get out of jail," declared Hon. S. P. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, commenting here yesterday on the recent nude demonstrations of Doukhobors in the Nelson area.

"What other way was there besides arrests?" he asked. "We cannot let the Doukhobors continually flaunt our laws and make constant trouble without taking some action."

Premier Tolmie, during the interview, discussed present conditions in the coast province. He was not thinking of an election now, he said. He did not have to appeal to the voters for another year, and he also declared he had no intention of resigning the premiership, despite recent rumors.

"I am fit and right on my toes," he told the interviewer.

All Forces, Federal and State, Co-ordinated in Search For Abductor-murderers, Which Has Taken New Form Following J. H. Curtis's Confession

MUD ON HIS AUTO ANALYZED

Norfolk, Virginia, Police Chief Does Not Believe Curtis Told Whole Story in His Confession to New Jersey Police

Associated Press

Hopewell, N.J., May 18.—John Hughes Curtis, fake Lindbergh baby negotiator, is being watched closely by the police for fear his "remorse" may tempt him to commit suicide. A high official revealed this to-day.

Curtis's every movement is being watched, it is stated.

At the same time it was revealed that Norfolk, Va., police had been checking the movements of the shipbuilder on the night of March 1, the date of the Lindbergh abduction. Mrs. Curtis at Norfolk, said her husband was at home that night.

Governor Harry Moore of New Jersey announced that "all police work, state and federal, is to be co-ordinated and all forces are swinging along with the same purpose in view."

Governor Moore said it was probable Curtis would be arraigned to-day after a complaint had been sworn out against him by the police. "A state charge, if made, the Governor said, would probably be that of 'making false statements,' which in effect means 'hampering the ends of justice.'"

There were reports here to-day also, that Curtis would be charged by the United States Government with hampering the functions of the government. On the strength of his story concerning himself, patrolled the coast.

RUMOR DENIED. A report disseminated by a news service (not the Associated Press) that Curtis had actually attempted to take his life, was officially denied at the State House.

Major Charles Schoeffel, assistant superintendent of state police, made the following statement through John Tooley, secretary to Governor Moore.

"We had information from a confidential source in Norfolk that this man (Curtis) became involved in financial difficulties and attempted suicide and after receiving information, for his own protection, we placed a guard over him twenty-four hours a day. He has neither attempted suicide nor has he had an opportunity. He is still being detained for questioning."

WHOLE STORY WANTED. Norfolk, Va., May 18.—Chief of Police S. W. Ironmonger to-day said he did not believe John Hughes Curtis had made a complete confession regarding his fake negotiations in the Lindbergh baby case and that he has withheld "something important."

Chief Ironmonger would not give any indication of the nature of the information he said he believed Curtis had withheld. The police official also refused to say whether he had learned

Beauty Parade For Men As Well As Women at Holiday Frolic

Twenty-two Now Entered in Pulchritude Contest at Crystal Garden

A beauty parade for men is the latest attraction announced by the committee in charge of the May 24 celebrations. The parade will be held in conjunction with the bathing beauty show on the night of May 24. The winner, judged on the basis of physique, will be known as "Mr. Vancouver Island."

The competitors will hide their identity behind masks as they parade before the judges.

To the worst specimen of manhood will go a consolation prize, which would appear to indicate that Bert Waude and his beauty committee have a surprise in store for the revelers at the garden.

Meanwhile the bathing beauty contest is assuming large proportions. The entry list had reached twenty-two this morning.

OFFER MADE FOR FAKE STORY

But New York Daily News Did
Not Know Curtis's Abduction
Tale False

New York, May 18.—Officials of the New York Daily News to-day said an offer to buy the story of John Hughes Curtis's abduction to recover the abducted Lindbergh baby had been made by Richard Lee of the newspaper's staff. At the newspaper office it was said the offer to buy the story was made in the belief that Curtis's story was based on facts.

New York, May 18.—Grafton S. Wilcox, managing editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, issued the following statement regarding the references to that newspaper in the story of fake abductor negotiations told police by John Hughes Curtis of Norfolk, Virginia:

"The New York Herald-Tribune made no contract of agreement of any kind with John Hughes Curtis.

"Curtis did make a proposal that this newspaper publish the story of his activities.

"The Herald-Tribune stipulated it would make no arrangement with him until the child had been returned to Colonel Lindbergh and the latter had vouched for the authenticity of the narrative."

SPECIAL TAX BILL PASSED

Bennett Tells Commons
Canada's Judges Too
Numerous and Underpaid

Lapointe Opposes 10 Per Cent
Levy on Judges' and Officers' Incomes

Ottawa, May 18.—The bill levying a special income tax of ten per cent on the salaries of judges, officers, and officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was passed by the Commons yesterday evening.

It was a well-known axiom that in matters of taxation there should be no discrimination, declared the ex-minister of justice, but the present measure was "class legislation."

With regard to the other principle of "no taxation without representation," Mr. Lapointe said judges did not have the right to vote.

POOR ONES OVERPAID
The poor servant, Mr. Lapointe went on, was always overpaid.

It was of supreme importance the country should have an impartial and independent judiciary, and it was not fair to have Parliament increasing or decreasing judges' salaries from year to year, he declared.

Mr. Lapointe felt the $2,000,000 voted Monday evening for the militia had been dispensed with if the government had desired to economize, and also that the appropriation for cadet training would have been eliminated altogether.

LIQUIDATION-GOVERNORS
Mr. Lapointe believed that to include the Liquidation-Governors would be equally as bad as imposing the tax on the judiciary. The former Minister of Justice also referred to remarks that had been made in the House relative to the possibility of abolishing the office of Liquidation-Governor.

He did not think it was in the power of Parliament to take such action.

"Liquidation-Governors are part of the Legislature of the provinces," declared Mr. Lapointe.

Mr. Lapointe was of the belief it would be difficult to induce the people of the provinces to submit to abolition of the Liquidation-Governors.

"I know that in Quebec they would not submit to such an act," he declared, and he doubted if even a small minority could be secured to support such a move.

GLIMMERING VIEWS
"With a great deal of what the honorable gentlemen have said, I am in hearty accord," said Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice. "With other parts I cannot agree."

Mr. Guthrie claimed the government was entitled to discriminate if it so desired. It was not a question of right but of propriety. Personally, he would not want to reduce any salaries or impose any tax on the judiciary.

Mr. Guthrie completely agreed with the ex-minister of justice in his high regard for the judiciary. But he would have to admit it was the temper of the House that the judiciary should participate in the general contribution made by the general public treasury.

As for the argument of Mr. Lapointe that the judges should be exempted from taxation, Mr. Guthrie said this was not founded on fact. Under the system of government in this country the members of the House of Commons represented all and every class of citizens in the Dominion.

POSITION OF JUDGES
"Will the minister please advise the House why the judiciary were not brought in under the general act?" asked Hon. Charles Stewart, Liberal, Edmonton West.

The judges were not civil servants, but were in a class by themselves, replied Mr. Guthrie. They might at some time be called to act as a buffer between the people and the crown, and he did not believe it would be constitutional to treat them as public servants.

Parliament had the power to increase judges' salaries, so he failed to see why Parliament should not also have the right to reduce them, Mr. Stewart said.

PREMIER'S VIEWS
Premier Bennett, a former Minister of Justice and past president of the Canadian Bar Association, gave his views candidly on Canada's judiciary.

The low salaries paid to judges, he said, had resulted in "a judicial body which does not reflect the genius of the legal profession in this country."

The dual system of appointments—the Dominion and the provinces—had produced too many judges and "instead of a few highly trained minds on the bench, you have large numbers of mediocre minds administering justice," he said.

In recent years considerable criticism had been leveled at the judiciary, proceeded Mr. Bennett. This had resulted from two causes, namely, the increase in the number of judges, determined largely by the low salaries paid—and "I am saying this in no overly critical sense or as an insinuation one party more than another—and there has been too much political patronage concerned in appointments to the bench. The result has been the test whether a man is entitled to a place on the bench has seemed to be whether he has run an election and lost. In few instances has the test been the merits of the appointee."

COURT OF LAST RESORT
The Prime Minister made one observation—evidently relating to the establishment in Canada of a court similar to the Privy Council in Great Britain, the final court at present for

ALBERTA COAL MINERS FIGHT

Rival Factions Stage Battle;
May Mean End of Crow's
Nest Strike

Coleman, Alta., May 18.—Rival factions of Alberta coal miners staged a battle in the Coleman Opera House and the domination of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada in the Alberta coal fields received a rough lot. Three men were under arrest to-day as a result of the melee, which developed at a meeting of the miners yesterday evening and a new local mine workers' organization headed by two former officers of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada was in existence.

Creation of the new organization may mean the end of the strike, which has paralyzed operations in the Crow's Nest Pass coal district for eleven weeks. The mine operators refused to deal with the Mine Workers' Union on the ground it was communistic. Last week strikers voted to go back to work on the basis of an expired agreement originally signed by Dr. Gillespie and William White, chosen yesterday evening as provisional president and secretary of the new union.

The battle yesterday evening was between the old agreement and formation of a local union and those favoring continuance of the strike and support of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada.

Chairs were thrown across the hall, the men engaged in hand-to-hand fights and almost every window in the building was broken. The first was William White, chosen yesterday evening as provisional president and secretary of the new union.

The battle yesterday evening was between the old agreement and formation of a local union and those favoring continuance of the strike and support of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada.

Chairs were thrown across the hall, the men engaged in hand-to-hand fights and almost every window in the building was broken. The first was William White, chosen yesterday evening as provisional president and secretary of the new union.

ATROCITIES IN LIBERIA

Killing of Many Natives By Army in African Republic Reported to League at Geneva

Associated Press
Geneva, May 18.—The burning alive of many men, women and children by the Liberian frontier military force was reported to the League of Nations today in a communication signed in behalf of the British, United States and French Governments.

These atrocities, the report asserted, were committed against tribesmen of the Kru Coast.

The Liberian delegate submitted a memorandum to the League's Liberian commission confirming the burning of forty-four villages and the killing of eighty-one men, forty-nine women and twenty-nine children.

STORIES SEND HUNTERS AFIELD

Canadian Press

The Pas, Man., May 18.—A giant frog-like creature with a tall ten feet long, great green eyes, green mottled body and webbed feet, haunts the waters of the north country. Such is the word brought to Pine Bluffs by Indians and to-day a number of white hunters are on their way to bag specimens of northern Saskatchewan's wonder.

The beast is said to have been seen both on land and in the water, and Thomas Head, who at first was sceptical, now vouches for its existence.

He disbelieved the story when it was brought to Pine Bluffs by other Indians, and considered it a tale originating in an overdose of "fire-water." A few days later he was traveling in the region supposed to be inhabited by the monster. A hideously overgrown frog broke through the surface of the lake near Head's canoe. The Indian felt unwell for the seconds during which he gazed at the green eyes and slowly yawning mouth of the weird "Ogopogo." Then he paddled on.

TREATY HIDE DUTIES VOTED

Commons Discusses Import Levy Under Canadian-New Zealand Treaty

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 18.—Higher duties on imported hides proved a snag in the Commons yesterday as the fine-tune was opened for an early prorogation. Conservatives as well as Liberals criticized the move from the standpoint of the farmers, the tanners and the consuming public.

Before the clause was passed Hon. W. D. Buler, North Waterloo, Ont.; E. J. Young, Weyburn, Sask.; Hon. James Macdonald, North Bruce, Ont.; John L. Brown, Ligar, Man., and other Liberals protested against the duties.

The duties—free under the British preference for per cent general and 10 per cent intermediate—form a part of the Canada-New Zealand treaty which Dr. McGibbon denounced as wrong in inception and wrong in application. The duties finally were approved, but because they formed a part of the treaty, no division took place.

OUT OF BUSINESS

Every tanner in Canada would be driven out of business through the higher duties predicted Dr. Peter McGibbon, Conservative, Muskoka, Ont. Canada imported its fine hides from Argentina with which no trade treaty existed. It would be futile, he said, to attempt to divert that trade to New Zealand because hides from the Argentine were unsuitable for Canadian consumption.

Col. Harry Mullins, Conservative, Marquette, Man., a veteran stockman of the prairies, said Canadian hides, like those from New Zealand, were unsuitable for fine leathers, particularly harness. The effect of the duties, he said, would be higher prices for leather and less work and profit for the tanner.

STEVENS'S VIEWS

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who negotiated the New Zealand treaty, forecast the possibility of a pact with Argentina.

Mr. Stevens predicted Canadian and New Zealand hides would replace to a large extent the Argentine article. He believed protests against the hide duties were exaggerated and expressed the opinion that the leather industry, including agriculture, would be injured.

English Pick Pretty Girl Only 18 As Tennis Star

By Reuter's Special to The Daily Times
London—Following hard upon the spectacular successes of Miss Katharine Stammers at Southampton (the first county lawn tennis championship of the season) the Lawn Tennis Association has chosen her for the Wightman Cup trials in June.

Miss Peggy Scriven, who reached the last eight last year at Wimbledon, and Miss Sheila Hewitt, the present girl champion, have also been selected for these trials.

All three are only just eighteen years of age. Miss Stammers and Miss Scriven are left-handed hitters with powerful drives.

Miss Scriven's victories, coming from an unknown girl, made the big sensation at the championships last June. She defeated Miss E. H. Harvey, a former Wightman Cup player, Miss Mary Healey, the Midlands girl, and then Miss Joan Ridley, before going down to the French champion, Mme. Mathieu after a tremendously exciting contest by 1-6, 6-2, 7-5. The English girl actually led 4-1 in the final set.

CAPTIVATES CROWDS

Miss Scriven is a pretty girl with charming ways, and she captivated the centre court crowds by her decidedly rakish angle at which she wore a white eye-shade. She faced the crowds and her opponent with the nonchalance of a Helen Wills, who had earned the title of "poker-face" because of her frigid calm in any ordeal.

Miss Hewitt won the junior championships last September in a dramatic way. Before the final she misplaced a toe joint. An osteopathic surgeon remedied the trouble a few hours before the final round, but he warned her that she would probably not be able to play and, even if she started, that she would be compelled to retire before the finish.

Despite the verdict she won through, defeating Miss Stammers, 9-7, 3-6, 6-4.

PERLEY RETURNS TO DOMINION

Miss Kydd, Another Canadian Delegate, Also to Come Home From Geneva

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 18.—Sir George Perley and Miss Winnifred Kydd, two of Canada's delegates to the World Disarmament Conference, will return to Canada. In the Commons yesterday afternoon, answering a question asked by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Liberal, Quebec East, Premier Bennett said the committee of which Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, is vice-chairman, was still in session.

"The interests of Canada," he added, "are entirely safeguarded and in every sense protected, in view of the present state of that conference, by the presence of the Solicitor-General."

Geneva, May 18.—For the next four weeks, statements of many nations will take advantage of a lull in the proceedings of the World Disarmament Conference.

Interviewed yesterday, Sir George Perley, head of the Canadian delegation to the conference, said that until a new French government should be formed the conference could make no important decisions. It was possible, in Sir George's opinion, that the Lausanne conference on reparations would absorb public attention before the next item on the agenda of the general disarmament commission could be reached.

The Canadian leader believed many heads of delegations would temporarily return home.

Sir George will leave next Saturday for Canada, where he will report progress of the conference to Premier Bennett. His return to Geneva, he said, would be determined by the Canadian Government when it became clear what course the conference would take.

During Sir George's absence, Hon. Maurice Dupre, Canadian Solicitor-General, will be head of the Canadian delegation.

Dr. W. A. Riddell, Canadian advisory officer in Geneva, and Thomas Stone, of the Canadian Legation at Paris, are remaining in Geneva as technical advisers to Mr. Dupre.

INCOME TAX CHANGES VOTED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 18.—Without a word of discussion, the Commons yesterday evening approved the amendments to the income tax contained in the budget resolutions. These amendments repeal the 20 per cent allowance for early payment of the income tax, increase the corporation tax from 10 to 11 per cent, impose a surtax on incomes in excess of $5,000 per annum, reduce the personal exemption from $3,000 to $2,400 for married men and from $1,500 to $1,200 for single persons, and introduce certain changes in the administrative features of the act.

INSURANCE TAX PLAN DEBATED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 18.—The budget resolutions relating to insurance companies were amended by the Commons yesterday evening. The amendments now provide that insurance companies authorized by law to operate in Canada—"other than life and marine insurance companies, fraternal benefit societies, purely mutual fire insurance companies insuring principally farm risks, reciprocal insurance exchanges and mutual companies carrying on business on the premium deposit plan"—shall be taxed 1 per cent on the net premiums, retroactive to January 1, 1932.

Two per cent is to be imposed on mutual companies and reciprocal insurance exchanges, and 15 per cent is to be imposed on insurers doing business with companies not authorized by law to transact business in Canada.

Parents of Tennis Star Separated

Canadian Press
San Francisco, May 18.—The Examiner yesterday said Dr. and Mrs. Clara A. Wills, father and mother of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, tennis star, are reading apart. Dr. Wills, the examiner said, had been living at the faculty club on the University of California campus at Berkeley for almost a year.

Mrs. Wills, the paper added, has been in residence at the Berkeley Women's City Club for the last few months.

The Examiner said both Dr. and Mrs. Wills declined to comment on the situation, but Mrs. Wills, in response to a question concerning the possibility of court action, declared: "No, positively no."

CHEQUE TAX IS APPROVED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 18.—Budget provisions for stamp taxes on cheques, money orders, etc., was passed by the Commons in committee of ways and means yesterday evening, without discussion. ## THAT TARIFF BOARD

ALTHOUGH LEGISLATION PROVID- ing for the creation of a Tariff Board was passed at last year's session of Parliament, no appointments have been made, and Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, could give Mr. Mackenzie King no more definite information yesterday than that members of the board will probably be appointed in the near future. He could not assure the opposition leader that the appointments would be made before the Imperial Economic Conference; but the committee in supply approved an appropriation of $120,000 to provide for salaries and expenses of this body.

It will be recalled that as soon as the present government assumed office one of its first actions was to dismiss the old Tariff Board. From that time until now, to all intents and purposes, the Prime Minister has been the tariff maker, with what disastrous results we already know. Unless he proposes to relinquish this role—for we may take it that appointees to the board will reflect his own personal views—the next Tariff Board will be an unnecessary luxury.

How important it is, however, that a competent and impartial body should be in operation is emphasized by the debate in the Commons yesterday in connection with an increase in the tax on hides. Conservatives as well as Liberals criticized the proposal from the standpoint of the farmer, the tanner, and the consuming public. The increase went through, but not before Dr. Peter McGibbon, Conservative member for Muskoka, predicted that its effect would be to drive every tannery in Canada out of business. The duties—free under the British Preference, fifteen per cent general, and ten per cent intermediate—formed a part of the Canada-New Zealand treaty, which Dr. McGibbon denounced as "wrong in inception and wrong in application."

The criticism of this government supporter apparently had no practical effect. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, considered the protests against the hide duties exaggerated and expressed the opinion that no Canadian industry, including agriculture, would be injured. Not only does this conflict of view within the government's own ranks indicate an altogether too perfunctory consideration of tariff matters; it also invites the question as to whether the government is prepared as far as the tariff is concerned for the Imperial Economic Conference.

DE VALERA TO OTTAWA

WHILE RELATIONS ARE SOMEWHAT
 strained between the government at Westminster and the Irish Free State government, the announcement that President Eamon de Valera will lead the Free State's delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference—provided important government business does not intervene—puts at rest all predictions that the legislation to abolish the oath of allegiance to the British Crown from the Free State constitution, now before the Senate, will have any effect upon Premier Bennett's invitation to the Dublin government to be represented at the gathering in question.

It is being assumed that the Free State Senate will throw out the legislation upon which Mr. de Valera has set his heart; in that case the government will have to wait eighteen months, obtain another endorsement from the Dail, before it can override the veto of the upper chamber. It could, of course, go to the people again with this as the issue; but in view of the unfavorable reaction in connection with Labor, and industrial employers, Mr. de Valera is hardly likely to run any unnecessary political risks.

The prospect is, then, that no change will have been made in the constitution of the Irish Free State when Mr. de Valera comes to Ottawa. He will meet the statesmen of the other dominions there and probably rub shoulders with many in attendance who first saw the light of day in the Emerald Isle—who may whisper a few things in his ear. He will meet the colleagues of Premier Hertzog, who advised him some time ago to drop his anti-British attitude and do nothing to disturb the relations between Dublin and London and the other capitals of the empire countries. For many years the man who is now South Africa's Prime Minister nursed a grievance against the British connection; he was all for an independent republic. But a combination of the knowledge that if the Union decided to sever the family tie Great Britain would not send an army to try to prevent her from doing it, and the mellowing effect of office—like Mr. de Valera, he was in opposition a long time—has completely changed his view. He sees everything to lose and nothing to gain by South Africa becoming a republic.

Mr. de Valera still appears to be in a somewhat belligerent frame of mind. Before his election to office he told the people what he proposed to do. We do not know whether it was because of the promises he made in this regard, or whether it was a desire for a change, that won him the Presidency. It would seem fairly safe to wager, however, that certain matters of trade in which his country is vitally concerned, and which will be discussed frankly at Ottawa, may persuade him that it is more profitable to view the interests of the Free State as a businessman than it is to view them as a doctrinaire.

CANADA'S POSITION IN EMPIRE MINING

AN IMPORTANT CHAPTER WAS added to the history of the mining industry of the Dominion at the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, held last month in Montreal. This gathering really resolved itself into a convention of Canada's mining experts, the deliberations and discussions being of particular significance in view of the Imperial Economic Conference to be held in Ottawa in July. The papers read and discussed had for their chief purpose the consideration of Canada's position in mining and metallurgy in relation to the mineral resources of the empire as a whole.

The central topic of this year's general meeting of the institute was, perhaps, the paper read by Dr. Charles Cammell, Deputy Minister of Mines, Ottawa, entitled "Mineral Position of the British Empire." In this paper Dr. Cammell disclosed some interesting facts, based on a comprehensive study he has conducted during the past four years. It is no secret that the results from this study, presented at the last Imperial Conference in London, carried great weight with the members.

According to Dr. Cammell, the British Empire, viewed as an economic unit or group, rather than as individual countries, is in a position, potentially at least, of unique strength. Of the twenty-eight most important metals and minerals the empire possesses twenty-one in such abundance as to have large quantities available for export. Of the remaining seven the empire possesses two in quantities adequate for its own needs. For the one the empire is practically dependent on outside sources, and for four it is almost entirely so dependent. No other single country, or group of countries so associated, occupies a position comparable to that of the empire in respect of supplies of mineral raw materials.

In Dr. Cammell's view, "it should be kept in mind that the empire's strength in mineral resources depends upon the empire being regarded as a unit. The more one examines the situation the more one is impressed with the fact that the mineral strength of the empire, outstanding as it may be, lies not in the resources of any one country but in the combined resources of all." Coal and iron ore are the two chief mineral needs of industrial civilization and, in these two minerals, the empire possesses enormous reserve, the enterprising use of which should secure for it for centuries to come a high place in the world's industries.

THEN AND NOW

ONE REFERENCE TO THE FORTH-
 coming Lausanne conference on reparations includes the reminder that eleven years ago Mr. Lloyd George said this about Germany's ability to pay: "The real difficulty is securing payments outside the limits of Germany. Germany could pay—pay easily—inside her own boundary; but she can not export her forests, railways and lands across her frontiers and make them over to the Allies. The only way Germany can pay is by way of exports."

This invites the question why, if what Mr. Lloyd George said was true, the breakdown in reparations did not come until last year. The reference to which we have referred, not new by any means, of course, supplies the answer: Germany has been getting private loans from her creditors. Between 1924 and 1930 Germany paid reparations amounting to $2,453,000,000. During the same period, however, the German government and German industries borrowed $3,643,000,000 abroad. In effect, therefore, the Allied nations lent the Germans money with which to pay themselves. What has interrupted the process now is simply the fact that during the depression private loans have stopped and the world security markets have been closed to foreign issues. Meanwhile, conditions in Germany have gone from bad to worse.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS
 The Providence Journal

A most disturbing fact in the crime situation is the immaturity of the great majority of the criminals rounded up by the officers of the law. Now we have youths from seventeen to twenty-one years of age, versatile in crime, who without emotion rectify, in the presence of spectators and the representatives of the press, the most intimate details of the planning and carrying out of ruthless wickedness. These youths are not products of the Great War, except as they have been developed in the agitated years succeeding and colored by that titanic and world-changing struggle. Boys who are from seventeen to twenty-one now were only from three to seven when the Armistice was signed.

A BRITISH WARNING
 The Ottawa Citizen

As the time for the Empire Economic Conference draws nearer, more pregnant with warning becomes the utterance of those most closely concerned. Recently, The Citizen's London correspondent, Lukin Johnston, quoted a member of the British delegation to Ottawa in terms that leave no room for doubt but that Britain will come here expecting far different treatment from that the dominions have so far shown any disposition to give.

This delegate said: "British industry is preparing to do whatever it can to co-operate, but let there be no mistake about it—if we fail to reach a basis of co-operation with the dominions, British industry must turn speedily to world markets to save itself from disaster."

It may help towards an appreciation of this attitude if a few empire trade figures are cited. These show that as much from Great Britain as British buyers are taking from that Dominion. The following table (in pounds sterling) illustrates how one-sided is the present arrangement:

It will thus be noted that consumers in Britain are buying more than twice the amount from the other lands within the empire—that empire dwellers overseas are buying from Britain. And British trade with foreign countries is about three times that with empire countries. Clearly Britain cannot be expected to go into any tariff arrangement with the empire countries which does not radically change the balance. It would be suicidal to do so.

The plain fact of the matter is that tariff manipulations at Ottawa are fraught with grave consequences, particularly for Britain. She has got to get a great deal more from the conference than seems possible now templates the situation, the more disturbing are the prospects of a tariff-ridden conference.

A THOUGHT

Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you.—Isaiah xxxiv 4.

The best thing which we derive from history is the enthusiasm that it raises in us.—Goethe.

Loose Ends

A dull column about a statesman who looked out of the window—and failed to see past the laws of the Parliament Buildings—and imagined that he had been the victim of hard luck.

By H. B. W.

A PROVINCIAL STATESMAN of note stood by his window and looked out sadly over the green lawns of the Parliament Buildings yesterday and thus bared his heart to me: "You know, all the troubles of these times seem so unnecessary. Before the war everything was going along all right. Everybody was fairly well off. Cities were growing. People were happy. Business was making money. Then, just because there was a war, just because some nations in Europe wanted to fight, everything has gone to pieces. The world is upside down when it could have gone along so comfortably. It is all so absurd and unnecessary."

THIS, I THINK, is a general view, a common delusion and so I told this eminent statesman (for statesmen in the privacy of their own offices in these times are exceedingly reasonable, glad to listen to good advice from their elders). It is a common delusion, I mean, that all our present troubles could have been avoided, that they are due to chance and a streak of bad luck, starting with an assassination of an Austrian archduke. Our present troubles are absurd but they are not unnecessary. They are quite inevitable, were bound to occur whether the archduke was assassinated or not, whether there was any war or not. This, it seems to me, is very comforting.

FOR AS I patiently explained to my statesmanlike friend beside his window in the Parliament Buildings, there is really only one problem in a thousand different disguises, which fool most of the experts and the economists. There is only one problem and so long as it remained unsettled there was bound to be trouble, off and on, forever. And this problem is simply the adjustment of a human animal to a form of life which he has never known before in the millions of years which he spent on his way from the prehistoric swamp up to the discovery of steam.

WHAT IS PERFECTLY clear to his statesman, though not to many statesmen, and certainly not to the world at large, is that the world suddenly changed, almost overnight, when steam was discovered, when the machine came into existence. Where it had been a series of disjointed tribes, ploughing their own fields and having little to do with their neighbors, an occasional tribal war, the world rapidly, in the space of a century, became a single economic unit, a tremendously complicated and exquisitely fragile system of trade, all of which suffered when the least part of it was injured. The whole problem of humanity is to adjust to a world which has changed itself to a world of racial prejudices, thousands of years of racial prejudices have made decidedly disagreeable, to the realization that one people cannot fatten all of the time on other people, to the technique of a machine civilization where production is no problem but distribution is in chaos.

LOOK ABOUT YOU, as I magnificently commanded my statesmanlike friend to do, look about you, the laws of the Parliament Buildings and over the tortured surface of the globe. You will see that all the difficulties of the times, to which economists can give such mouth-filling and brain-boggling answers, are all mere offshoots of this central difficulty of raising the human animal up from the fixed mental habits of the jungle to the habits of a civilized creature, the necessity of keeping him abreast of his own inventions.

LOOK THEN, ACROSS the nearest border, to your neighbor, which was the most prosperous nation in history three years ago and now has the highest percentage of unemployment in the world. This is no accident, no unhappy chance, the mere result of a bull market and too much speculation. It is something much bigger and in some degree at least inevitable, whether the market had crashed in 1929 or not. The United States failed to adjust itself to its own inventions, its extraordinary progress in machinery, and to the new world of economics which has become one. It turned out a vast over-production of everything and imagined that it was taking its goods on the world without taking anything in return. It could have succeeded a hundred years ago, but in those hundred years the new world had been born. The United States failed to note that fact.

LOOK ACROSS THE PACIFIC, where Japan is in politics, turmoil and economic crisis. That is not the mere result of the military's present madness, of absolute monarchy or the Shanghai adventure. It is all part of the process of Japan's painful adjustment to the new world of economics, its need for raw materials to feed its insatiable machine and machinery, its need to absorb their output. Britain faces the same problem. Where it had no trouble a century ago in buying the world's raw products and selling them in a finished state to other nations without machinery, now it finds its old customers making their own things. It has to readjust its whole economic structure to an age of world-wide machinery. In Russia you have another phase of the same process—an attempt to adjust a backward people suddenly to machinery by right state control of everything and the suppression of individual liberty.

AND SO YOU could go on over the whole world and see this process at work if you looked for it, and were not turned aside by talk of currency and trade balances and gold reserves and the other impediments of scientific economics. Everywhere you would find peoples or classes trying to beat the game, trying to raise themselves at the expense of others by tariffs, by debt collection, by new political experiments, refusing to see that, as a human race, we are all in the same boat and ultimately will float or sink together.

THAT IS WHY I comforted my statesmanlike friend by telling him that our present troubles were due to chance and a streak of bad luck. The process of adjustment, and the attempt of everyone to get ahead of his neighbor, was going on before the war and inevitably caused it. Germany wanted to enrich itself by control of more raw materials and more markets. The ruling class of Russia wanted to maintain its privileged position at the expense of the great mass of its people. Nearly every other nation had some use to grind. None could see the one obvious truth of the present era, that no nation and no class can permanently prosper at the expense of other nations and other classes. The failure to see this brought about the war, and the mad economics of the post-war period and the present crisis. And however we may get over the present crisis, however one nation may prosper for a time while others starve, until these central facts are recognized, until the world is organized accordingly, until men have become as advanced in their living as in their science and invention, there will be upheaval and strife and depression.

IT IS A PAINFUL process, this civilizing of men. Perhaps it is a process disagreeable to nature. Perhaps men were not intended to be civilized. But we are embarked on it and must go through with the attempt. Life proper to man is unsatisfactory when men are uncivilized, when they are not the product of their own civilization and their own inventions. The civilization of economics and inventions and the barbarism of men is an unsatisfactory combination for anyone. It is making us all unhappy. The statesmanlike friend thought as they gazed out the Parliament Buildings windows, and this is too much to ask of them.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 May 18, 1907
 (From The Times Files)

The acting Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. Templeman, arranged for the construction of a motor lifeboat to be stationed at Banfield Creek, for use of the west coast of Vancouver Island in the event of any wreck occurring at that exposed portion of the coast.

It is early yet to speak of the measure of success which will attend the enterprise known as the Canadian-Mexican Steamship Company, but certain elements have arisen in connection with the project which have aroused some heart pang to the promoters of the scheme.

Weather Forecast:—Victoria and Vicinity—Moderate and fresh winds, continuing fair and warm to-day and to-morrow.

Definite information of the plans of the Alaska Steamship Company have come to hand, and it transpires that the Chippewa will replace the Indians in the Victoria-Seattle run.

The officials for the regatta to be held on May 26 have all been decided. From the University of Washington, the regatta committee have succeeded in securing the George Boathouse, the exclusive privilege of the judges and officials. Word has been received that they are sending a crew over for the big event of the day, the race for the senior championship of the province, so that now three entries are assured. Seattle, Washington, and James Bay. The local four are in fine trim and expect to do great things.

SPEED FIENDS

To the Editor:—Apropos of the speed fiend on the Four Mile Hill, we also have one on the Burnside Hill, and this should meet his eye. I can tell him of several "anxious parents" of children attending Tillicum School whom I have heard declare that "if he does" it will require more than a veritable "accident" to protect him from their accumulating wrath.

This is not passed to you, Mr. Editor, as a threat from these parents, but as a piece of enlightenment showing how people are thinking about the "mad motorists" who form so small but so detestable a percentage of drivers.

ANOTHER PARENT.

Victoria, B.C., May 17, 1932.

THE OTHER SIDE

To the Editor:—Although I heartily sympathize with the praiseworthy and laudable efforts of "An Anxious Father" to bring to justice, through the law, the mad motorists, the dangerous speed maniacs, who are a time-consuming nuisance to the public, let me put before the public the other side of the question. Let it from me to suppose that the children of "An Anxious Father" or any of his friend's children are among those I see (even at the earliest age) playing tag across the most dangerous corner of the George Road, yet the poor motorist has at times to steer an almost zig-zag course through their multitude.

The nimble brain of Dr. Dick alone could visualize the nightmare I have passed while I attempted to count children climbing through my very spokes (I only ride a bicycle). So let me urge "Anxious Father" to ask his friends sometimes to consider the poor motorist, and warn their children that the middle of the Island Highway is not really the correct place for the little ones to pursue their innocent pastimes. A FRIEND OF MANY ANXIOUS MOTORISTS.

PASSING OF AN AUTHOR

To the Editor:—The National Anti-Vaccination League in England has recently sustained a severe loss in the passing of Ernest Boyd McCormick, the brilliant editor of The Vaccination Inquirer. Only editors and section writers know what it means to read through piles of official reports, letters, cuttings and manuscripts day by day, but after eighteen years in the chair, Mr. McCormick had raised his magazine to a position of international importance.

He was the son of the Rev. W. T. McCormick, who was born in the backwoods of Canada and afterwards became vicar of St. Matthew's, Brighton. His brilliant son was born in Devonshire and was early led to take up writing and study, owing to ill-health brought on by overwork in athletics. Unthinkingly, he held the vaccine-dox views on the value of vaccination for smallpox until he saw the serious effects upon certain of his friends. He began to investigate and was eventually convinced of its inefficacy after reading the opinions of Professor Alfred Russel Wallace. From that time his opinions were unshaken and he contributed a valuable summary on the case against vaccination which brought him many congratulations from medical and scientific men; it was translated into German by Professor Molesworth.

Brilliant articles on this and other questions appeared over McCormick's name in various newspapers and magazines of high standing. He was also associated with debating clubs, dramatic organizations and other literary circles and his versatility seemed endless. Never for one moment, however, did he renounce that idealism which led him to set an inspiring example for the benefit, as he knew, of his fellow creatures. While his sudden passing seems a terrible loss, his unselfish courage would induce others who have benefited by his labors to go forward in the faith which was the beacon light of McCormick's life.

THE POINT OF VIEW

To the Editor:—In to-day's issue of The Colonist there is a leading editorial condemning the assassination of the Japanese Premier. No one is going to quarrel with the condemnation of outrageous acts such as this, but where the blame is placed on the shoulders of those who are guilty one is somewhat sickened by the subsequent expression of hypocritical sympathy which says that "the whole world stands aghast at such dastardly crimes."

As in the case of the recent assassination in France, The Colonist places the blame on the Communists, which in this case, it says, is thinly disguised as Pacifism. Without being able to see a great deal of difference between either creed, I contend that the murder of Japan's Premier had its origin in the capitalist class in Japan—which controls the army and the navy—and which was undoubtedly responsible for the far worse "crime against humanity" in general, perpetrated recently in Shanghai. The Japanese Premier was killed for the same reason, the same as were the tanks, guns, etc., used by them. A soldier all the world over is just an instrument of war, at the absolute and complete command of those who direct his movements. If war is justifiable, this is as it should be, but, personally, I can see no difference between murder on the grand scale exhibited at Shanghai and the isolated instances which have occurred recently in France and Japan.

The irony of "a pacifist's horrified squeal" can be appreciated when one realizes that the man whose death it deplors was representative of the anti-war faction and the fact that he was killed for that very reason. The pacifistic aims of the war party see no difference between their own Premier and defuncts and disgraced Chinese, if they obstruct their aims. Greed and selfishness still rule the world; the last great holocaust arising out of strife and so we are busy on shedding the blood of innocent and guilty alike, hypocritically professing are "shocked" ineffectually by the crimes we ourselves are responsible for. And, according to your enlightened raise his voice or use his pen against such things is "a damnable and disturbing of the peace of the world."

That is, of course, unless you happen to be a paid scribe on the staff of that dictatorial journal. It all depends on the point of view.

"DEMOGOGUE"

PROSPERITY WAITING FOR US
 To the Editor:—Apropos the present depression, my mind reverts to an incident in 1893, when I was first interested in building a railroad in Maine, the Kingfield and Dead River Railroad.

When the road was about half completed, the panic of 1893 arrived on the scene and it was next to impossible to raise money, never mind how good the security might be, for a time the called a meeting of our directors, which was held in the board room of the Maine Central Railroad in Portland. Our directors consisted of Weston Lewis, Verbum B. Mead and the writer, Arthur Sewall, president of the Maine Central Railroad, and Payson Tucker, vice-president and general manager, were present, representing the Maine Central interest.

The meeting was called to discuss ways and means for the completion of the road at that time or its abandonment. It was a time of depression, as you know, and the depression is, as some have thoughtlessly said, the worst in history. I can only feel amused when I think of the summing up of the situation by Payson Tucker at that meeting. I was so impressed with what he said that his words, which I can repeat verbatim, are as fresh in my memory as if they were spoken yesterday. He said: "If conditions continue as they are now, every railroad in the United States will be bankrupt in six months, and we might as well be in the same boat; but if on the other hand we have a change for the better by that time, and we complete the road now, we will then be all ready for business when the good times arrive." That short speech by Payson Tucker decided the issue; the road was completed, and by that time we had all the business we could handle. There was a lesson for us to-day in the wisdom of Payson Tucker.

Having weathered three or four panics in my time, I have no hesitation in saying that prosperity is now im-

LEAGUE AIMS ARE REVIEWED

Admiral W. O. Story Tells of Work in Canada at Luncheon of Local Branch

The aim of the Navy League is to "Canadianize" goods for Canadian ships built in Canadian yards of Canadian materials and manned by Canadian men and boys," stated Admiral W. O. Story of Ottawa in an interesting talk at a Navy League luncheon yesterday. This slogan, Admiral Story continued, is not practicable at the present time, but that is no reason why the league in Canada should not go on working for it. It may take a great deal of time, possibly a hundred years, but in the end it will be worth while, he said. Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, R.N., occupied the chair.

"The Navy League has much work to do," the speaker said, in opening his short talk. He told of the peace aims of the league. Britannia is dreaming dreams of peace, he said, and he urged everyone to pray that her dreams would come true. "We do not want war," he said, "but if war comes we do not want to be left in the loup."

SPIRIT OF SEA
Admiral Story urged the league to keep the spirit of the sea alive in Canadian people. "We want people to understand how much Canada depends on the sea," he declared. He told how interested he had found all the boys of the Navy League in their work from coast to coast. In the interior, even far from the sea, he had found boys of the league walking four and five miles along country roads to attend drill practices. This was indeed a fine spirit and one worth maintaining, he said.

A TRADING COUNTRY
Lieut.-Governor Fordham Johnson thanked Admiral Story for his talk. He said the Navy League had much more to do than train the boys. He specially for naval service. The youths were being trained for the mercantile service as well.

"Canada is a trading country," His Honor said. "One half of her exports go over the seas, and it is only natural and proper that the young men of Canada should be trained at sea," he said.

CIVIC WELCOME
A civic welcome to Admiral and Mrs. Story was extended by Mayor Leeming. He also spoke a few words on the work the Navy League is accomplishing and how closely identified Victoria has always been with naval matters. He referred to the olden days when Esquimalt always harbored five or six men of war and when sailors were as common on the streets of Victoria as civilians.

The Navy League was educating the people of the prairie provinces of Canada to the sea. B. C. Nicholas said in praising the work of the league. The existence of the league was more than justified, the speaker declared, by the fine work it was accomplishing. It was giving hundreds of young men careers and something to work for. Already it has placed many boys in positions at sea, he said in paying a tribute to the league and its work.

HETHERINGTON DENTISTS' HEAD

Elected President of Victoria Society at Annual Meeting Yesterday

Election of officers and discussion of plans for the coming year as well as for the Pacific Coast Dental Conference in Seattle in July featured the annual meeting of the Victoria Dental Society in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. Dr. E. W. Hetherington was named president of the organization.

Dr. S. F. Miles was elected vice-president; Dr. William Russell, secretary; Dr. R. Mitchell, treasurer, and Dr. W. J. Gibson, Dr. C. B. Moss and Dr. A. S. Webster members of the executive committee.

Following the elections, Dr. Lewis Hall, one of the charter members of the society who acted as installing officer, spoke of the success of the organization during the year and voiced a plea for the continued co-operation of the members and officers.

Arrangements were made for a clinical meeting in June at which Dr. G. H. Williams, Toronto University, will be the feature speaker. Dr. A. S. Webster, the retiring president, occupied the chair, and those present were: Dr. E. W. Hetherington, treasurer, J. D. Halley; committee, W. E. Scott, H. A. Robinson, Dr. R. Bush, Mrs. Cecil Springfield and Miss Betty Halley. The club opens on Friday, May 20. The tournament for the Gulf Islands championship is fixed for August 24 to 27.

Saanich Free From Infectious Disease

Saanich was remarkably free from infectious diseases during April, only two cases of chickenpox and one of measles being recorded by the municipal health department. The record of the preceding three months had been equally good. Dr. David Berman, medical health officer, stated in his monthly report.

During April only seven vaccinations against smallpox were performed, but in the previous two months 440 vaccinations were carried out. The nursing staff paid 919 visits for nursing, educational, school and welfare purposes, but only ninety-one visits for actual sickness were made during the month.

"We attribute our freedom from infectious diseases to the careful check-up work that is constantly carried on by the staff of the Health Centre, and the co-operation received from the teachers in the schools," Dr. Berman stated in his report.

Young People to Give Play at City Temple

AIR TOUR MAY PERFORM HERE

Junior Chamber to Consider Bringing Twelve Planes of B.C. Circus

If the Junior Chamber of Commerce becomes satisfied that conditions are suitable, it will help bring to Victoria the British Columbia air tour either July 2 or July 4 for a spectacular display of aerobatics. A letter to Mayor Leeming from Major Don MacLaren, chairman of the tour committee, was read at yesterday evening's annual meeting of the Junior Chamber by R. H. B. Kerr in his capacity as chairman of the Advisory Air Board.

In his letter Major MacLaren stated there were twelve planes in the tour society will produce again the three-act farce, "The Young Ladies' Single Blessedness Debating Society."

The cast will include the following young people: Doris LePage, Kay Priestley, Margaret Roe, Norma Roe, Donald McMillan, Eileen Watson, Marjorie Rudd, Louise Patterson, Johanna Coutts, Leslie Brevender, Agnes Stevenson, Audrey Richmond, Helen Isbister, Margaret Courtie, Cathie Forbister, Ella Mitchell, Bob Foulis and Harvey Paterson.

A musical programme will be rendered during the course of the play as follows: Little girl, Miss Vivian Curtis; piano solo, Miss Havina Davies; soprano solo, Mrs. Douglas Gossie; recitation, Miss Thelma Whitehead; mandoline, Mrs. Douglas Gossie; violin solo, Mrs. Scurrell and Mrs. Fuller; violin solo, Miss Doris LePage; baritone solo, Ivan Green; trombone solo, Fred Townsend; accompanist, Lawton Farlington.

and it was planned to put on shows in all the towns of southern British Columbia. The tour would be in Vancouver on July 1, so he thought July 2 a good day for it to come to Victoria.

In addition to the aerobatics, which Alderman W. T. Straith, in commenting on the idea, said would consist of formation flying, stunting and parachute jumping, there would be sightseeing trips costing each passenger $3.

Expenses for the thirty men in the tour would include gasoline, oil, hotel accommodation for two days and smaller items and would run to about $500, it was thought. The field at Gordon Head would be in good condition for the occasion and a license would be granted by Ottawa, Mr. Straith considered.

The members of the Junior Chamber were favorable to the idea of sponsoring the tour, provided the venture is proved on consideration to be sound financially.

Constant mowing in the early part of the season will prevent crab grass from seeding. If the grass is kept cut close, seed is prevented from forming.

Irish Shows Brilliant Form To Lead In Cue Match

FERGUSON AND CARTER DRAW

Welterweights Steal Vancouver Show With Slugging Six-round Battle

Carter Reeling Several Times; Hector McDonald in Win Over Santos

Vancouver, May 18.—Wildcat Carter, Seattle welterweight, and Nels Ferguson, Vancouver, slugged six fast rounds to a draw in the semi-final of the weekly boxing card here yesterday evening. The Carter-Ferguson mixup, despite knockouts in two of the preliminary bouts, stole the show, the boys mixing freely from the starting gong until the final bell.

Carter was lucky to get the draw decision. The Seattle welter, while only a flash of his form two years ago when he was kingpin of the lightweight class on the Coast, still showed the old ability to give and take and kept boxing in, but Ferguson nipped his dusky opponent early in the fight with a pair of solid hooks and a right.

Carter, in bad way. Several times Ferguson had Carter reeling and only the Seattle boy's ring experience saved him from making several trips to the canvas. Carter weighed 145, Ferguson 150. In the main event Hector McDonald got the call over Sammy Santos, sensational young Filipino lightweight in six little rounds. Santos was the aggressor throughout but outside of some hard hooks to the body, McDonald's footwork brought him out unscathed. The Vancouver boy landed only a half dozen solid blows on Santos throughout the six rounds of milling.

Frank Sawyer, Vancouver, 240, scored a knockout in the second round over Murph Sanderson, Seattle, 185, in one of the preliminary events. Frisco McGee, Seattle, 155, and Billy Shaw, Vancouver, 160, went four rounds to a draw.

GRADS RALLY TO WIN GAME

Come From Behind in Second Half to Defeat Chicago Hoop Squad 27 to 18

Calgary, May 18.—Overcoming a four-point deficit at half-time, Edmonton Commercial Grads, women's international basketball champions, handed the Chicago Red Devils their third straight defeat in an exhibition game here yesterday evening by a score of 27 to 18.

Twice beaten by Grads in Edmonton in a series for the Underwood Trophy, emblematic of international supremacy, the Chicago girls started off on the road to victory yesterday evening by holding the Grads to a four-point tie at the end of the first quarter. Grads were four points down at half-time with the score standing: Red Devils 10; Grads, 6.

Again it was a third and fourth-quarter battle that gave the Grads victory. At the end of the third the score was 18 to 15 in favor of Grads, and while the champions marked up nine points in the final quarter the Chicago girls were held to three points. The Chicago team arrived by train from Edmonton this afternoon, and the Grads, unable to get away at train time, made the 200-mile trip to Calgary by plane.

McGraw Claims Ruth the Greatest

By AL DENABARE

I recently asked John McGraw how he thought Babe Ruth would hit against the late Christy Mathewson, who the Giant leader considered the greatest of all pitchers. Mac didn't hesitate. Ruth would get his share of home runs off Matty, the same as he does with the rest of the pitchers that face him. "I always considered Ed Delahanty the greatest slugger of them all until I saw Ruth," McGraw continued, "and then I changed my mind." "I've watched all the great hitters for the last forty years and there are none in the same class as Babe for plain, undisturbed long distance hitting. He hits 'em farther than any man that ever lived. The others hit 'em but when Ruth hits 'em, they stay hit."

Far different from the clean-cut, white flannel-clad players of today are these old-timers who helped to promote the game of cricket in the city in 1864 and 1865, but their playing rules were much the same. In view of the approaching tour of the Australians, who will play here next month, members of the local committee in charge of the visit have delved into the archives to learn something of the early history of the game in the city. Reproduced above are two all-star teams, whiskers and all, which represented Victoria in the days when the grandfathers of the Capital's present crop of players were in their prime. The top picture shows the Victoria eleven of 1864. Reading from left to right the players are (standing) Tye, Howard, W. Harvey, Oakley, Daniel, E. Walters, Captain C. Clarke, Plummer, W. Edwards and Layton; (sitting) Burton, Baby Allport and Josiah Barnett.

Jimmy Fox and Bill Terry registered a pair of big gains in the standing of baseball's Big Six batsmen yesterday. They each garnered three hits out of four times at bat, Fox gaining twelve points in the averages and Terry sixteen. Their feats, however, brought no changes in the standing.

Pinkie Whitney was the only other Big Six member who could increase his average. He hit two out of four, going up five points to 350. Chick Hefey and Carl Reynolds each made one hit in four tries, Hefey dropping eight points and Reynolds five. Bill Dickey lost eleven by failing to hit in his two official times at bat.

Local Star Gains 185 Point Margin Over Chris. Owens

Completes Initial 1,000 Block With Unfinished Break of Twenty-three, With Vancouver Champion at 815-point Mark; Irish Clicks Off Breaks of 93 and 75; Second Block To-night in 4,000-point Match for B.C. Pro Title

Displaying a brilliant touch after the passing of the 500-point mark Bert Irish, holder of the city title, gained a lead of 185 points over Chris. Owens, Vancouver, in the opening 1,000-point block of their 4,000-point match for the British Columbia professional English billiards championship at the Metropolis Billiard Parlor yesterday evening. Irish reached the 1,000 mark with an unfinished break of twenty-three, while Owens was only able to score 815 points.

The match will continue with another 1,000 points to-night, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Irish will step to the table and continue his unfinished break. The remaining 2,000 points will be run off to-morrow and Friday evenings. A good crowd was in attendance for the opening block, and were treated to some first-class billiards. Both players displayed a fine knowledge of the game, and a number of difficult shots were made. Irish ran off the two best breaks of the evening, a 93 and a 75. In the former he had the balls in fine position and looked like passing the century mark, but he missed a simple in off the white in one of the end pockets. In attempting to hold the balls on the top rail for position.

Owens had two good breaks of 60 and 55, while on two other trips to the table he ran 51 and 41. Irish also had several breaks around the fifty mark during the course of the four hours' play. Irish made seventy-five trips to the table for an average of 11.01 with seventy-four innings.

GOOD HAZARD PLAY

Both players made good use of the losing and winning hazard. Owens got forty-five points off the red ball during one good break, while Irish ran a forty-two break with only the use of the red.

Considering the fact that he was playing on a strange table, and with unfamiliar balls, Owens made a good showing for the first night, and is expected to show improvement in the second block. Irish, after a poor start, turned in one of the best exhibitions of his career, and at the conclusion of the match was playing solid with a delicate touch and great accuracy.

Irish went into the lead at the start 107 to 38, but at this stage Owens rallied and moved into the lead 123 to 109. In the first 300 points both players showed a tendency to be nervous, and on many occasions resorted to safety shots when the balls were lying tough. Owens continued to score ahead and led 421 to 235. Irish rallied and two fine breaks of forty-two and fifty-three put him within striking distance. Irish finally got on the same "street" as Owens with the score at 470 to 412. Another break over the fifty mark put the players practically together. Irish reached 523 with Owens at 479 when a ten-minute rest was called.

Upon the resumption of play Owens got the balls working and took the lead, 574 to 523. Irish soon caught him and was out in front, 690 to 630. From this stage until the 1,000-point mark was reached, Irish was in the lead, and it was during the last 400 points that he clicked off his two best breaks.

The best breaks made by the two players follow: Irish—31, 48, 92, 36, 42, 53, 46, 78 and 60. Owens—41, 51, 34, 26, 55, 45, 47 and 60.

Sam Oakes acted as judge of play, while W. McKittrick was scorer.

YOUNG ARTISTS
GIVE CONCERTMiss J. Hayman, Organist, and Miss D. Parsons, Soprano, Please Audience

The masterful interpretation on the organ by Miss Joyce Hayman of Keown of a number of difficult compositions and the singing of Miss Dorothy Parsons, talented Victoria soprano, provided a delightful evening for more than 300 persons in the Metropolitan Church yesterday. Both these young artists seemed at their best and were exceedingly pleasing in their different spheres.

Bach and Mendelssohn were two of the great masters interpreted by Miss Hayman in her programme. The numbers of Bach were well done for one so young, and they showed that the youthful organist will go a long way in music. Bach's "Fugue in D Major" was the selection played. Its quick passages, full of life and spirit, were, indeed, well executed, but it was seen that some of the chords were a little too heavy for the player. The famous "Sonata No. 1 in F Minor" was the Mendelssohn selection, and this proved popular with the large audience. The "Spring Song" by Hubert Parry were other numbers on the well chosen and pleasingly rendered programme. For an encore Miss Hayman gave Caesar Franck's "Fugue and Variations." The audience showed great interest in the movements of the youthful organist's hands and feet on the massive instrument.

Miss Dorothy Parsons has appeared many times on the concert platform and her appearances are always welcome. She was, as usual, in pleasing voice. She chooses her numbers with a great deal of ambition. From the cantata "Gallia" she chose the majestic "Hallelujah" by Gounod and did it well. "Hear, Ye, Israel," by Mendelssohn and an encore "Fidelio" by Beethoven. The "Lonely Heart" were given. Miss Parsons received unstinted applause for her share in the programme. She was accompanied on the organ by her father, Edward Parsons.

Beet greens; dandelion greens and turnip tops as well as many other spring greens are available at almost no expense and are important foods as far as minerals and vitamins are concerned.

Foods which give rich yields of more than one food element are a decided economy. For instance, spinach is a rich source of iron and supplies vitamins in abundance. If it is bought primarily for iron, of which it is an economical source, its vitamins may be regarded as clear profit on the investment. Eggs are not only a source of protein but are rich in calcium, phosphorus and iron as well as three valuable vitamins A, B and D. Milk is valuable on many counts, and is a source of protein, part in economical menu.

Your Baby and Mine

SEASONAL PROBLEMS PERPLEX MOTHERS

The coming of a new season gives rise to questions which are pertinent to the season, and most mothers anticipate their needs in this direction. The following letter is an example of the year-old child, but includes a number of queries which you have probably been asking yourself.

A MODEL BABY

Mrs. M. J. N. writes with enthusiasm: "My dear and proud parents of a little thirteen-months-old live wire who weighs about twenty-five pounds and has eight teeth. Our landlady tells us she is a model baby, and we can truthfully say that we have never lost ten minutes' sleep with her because of misbehavior. I am appending her present schedule for constructive criticism."

"7 a.m.—Cereal, toast, boiled whole milk, bacon occasionally. 9:15 a.m.—Orange juice and cod liver oil. 9:30 a.m.—Bath and bed at 10:12—Dinner of egg yolk, baked potatoes, vegetables such as spinach or carrots and others, milk, and occasionally a cereal dessert or a baked apple. 2 p.m.—Short nap. 3:15 p.m.—Boiled water. 6 p.m.—Cereal, prune pulp, milk and to bed."

QUESTIONS

"She consumes almost a quart of milk daily which is boiled three minutes and a tablespoon of corn syrup added. I would appreciate an answer to the following questions. "What is the correct way to prepare an egg and should a whole egg or only the yolk be given? When corn syrup is added to the formula, should sugar be used on the cereal? Is it advisable to use butter on vegetables? Should baked potato be given every day? What can be given as a change at the night meal? Does one drop cod liver oil in summer?"

PERFECT SCHEDULE

When whole, undiluted milk is given to a child, no sugar is added. For children under nine months taking diluted formula sugar is added to make cover. The formula nearly like breast milk. After the first year, sugar is added to cooked fruits, puddings, and in moderate amounts to cereals. Children need some sugar and these are legitimate ways to furnish it.

Drop an egg in boiling water, remove from fire, cover egg, and leave from five to six minutes. This results in a soft, jellied egg. Hard-boiled eggs can stand in the boiling water covered for twenty minutes, or boil on top of stove for ten minutes. Egg yolk is more important from the sixth to the twelfth month, and for one year give a whole egg three times a week in place of other complete proteins.

Put a tiny amount of butter on vegetables. Baked potato, or bread or cereal pudding can be served with the noon meal. Baked potato or ripe raw or baked banana can substitute for cereal at the night meal. Cod liver oil is stopped in June and resumed in September. In summer we have real sunlight and don't need the bottled kind.

To-morrow: "Neighbor Children May Make Life Miserable."

Home Modernizing
Home modernizing campaigns, now operating in ninety-two cities and contemplated in 142 others, is expected to result in an expenditure of more than $25,000,000 for labor and materials by the end of June, the committee on reconditioning, remodeling and modernizing of the U.S. Department of Commerce reports.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

When three meals a day must be planned and cooked for a family of growing children, some knowledge of food values and daily food requirements will make it possible for the home-maker to combine economy with proper nourishment and well-balanced meals.

Seasonable foods always will be found to be best and cheapest. Quality buying is also a means toward economy. Clever seasoning often makes it possible to use the same foods many times in succession without danger of monotony. Baked carrots for luncheon and grated raw carrots in the dinner salad have no suggestion of sameness, but healthful and economical food is supplied for two meals and definite saving is effected.

Substitution of one food for another frequently makes for economy. When eggs are cheap they make an excellent meat substitute. Cheese also can be used in place of meat economically. Although cheese may parallel meat in price pound for pound, there is no waste and milk is adequate source of protein as beefsteak and costs about one-fourth as much. And as for minerals and vitamins, the milk and beans are more efficient than the steak.

Fresh fruits and vegetables that are of inferior quality mean an inordinate amount of waste. Consequently canned goods, such as fruit, vegetables and equal satisfaction. Wilty and imperfect fresh products are of less food value than those canned in perfect freshness and maturity.

Quick revisions of market lists and menus are often necessary after the shopper reaches her market if she should obtain the best for the least money. With this in mind, it is a good plan to jot down alternatives on the market list.

Each lesson and each section of the country will furnish foods whose nutritive properties should be used to the best advantage. Beet greens; dandelion greens and turnip tops as well as many other spring greens are available at almost no expense and are important foods as far as minerals and vitamins are concerned.

Milk is valuable on many counts, and is a source of protein, part in economical menu.

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, bread crumbs, raisins, brown sugar syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of carrot soup, croutons, hard-boiled egg and lettuce sandwiches, sliced bananas, ginger drop cookies, lemonade.

Dinner—Halibut steak, mashed potatoes, beet greens, carrot and cottage cheese salad, raisin bread pudding, milk, coffee.

POPE ISSUES
ENCYCLICALCalls For Eight-day Period of Prayer, Penance and Mortification

Greed, Speculation, Communism and Exaggerated Nationalism Condemned

By John Evans, Associated Press Staff Correspondent

Vatican City, May 18.—Pope Pius XI, in an encyclical issued to-day, called the world to prayer, penance and mortification to save itself from "the peril of terrorism and anarchy" and "the still graver evils that are threatening."

For this purpose he set aside a period of eight days for "reparation" on the octave of the feast of the sacred heart, beginning June 3.

TO ABSTAIN FROM AMUSEMENTS

He abjured the faithful to abstain during the eight days "at least from amusements and entertainments, however lawful" and urged that "those in easier circumstances" give to the poor "the proceeds of this retrenchment."

In the encyclical, entitled "Quadragesimo Anno," Christ's Charity—he lists the causes of the present "evils that are crushing humanity."

They are, he said, greed, the accumulation of the wealth of nations in the hands of a small group of individuals, exaggerated nationalism, unequal distribution of wealth, communism and the revolt of man against God.

From greed, he said, arises "the mutual distrust that casts a blight on all human dealings." He reiterated the words of St. Paul: "The desire of money is the root of all evil."

PLAYS SPECULATORS

Turning the point of criticism equally upon communists and speculators, the Pontiff said a small group of holders of the world's wealth "manipulate the markets of the world at their own caprice to the immense harm of the masses."

"Even those very few," he added, "who with their speculations were and are in great part a cause of so much woe are themselves quite often the first and most notorious victims, dragging down with them into the abyss the fortunes of countless others."

EVILS OF COMMUNISM

"Profiting by so much economic distress," he added, "and so much disorder, the enemies of all social order, be they called communists or by other names, boldly set about breaking through every restraint."

"This is the most dreadful evil of our times, for they destroy every bond of law, human or divine. They engage openly and in secret in a relentless struggle against God Himself; they carry out the diabolical programme of wresting from the hearts of all, even from children, all religious sentiment, for well they know that when once belief in God has been taken from the heart of mankind they will be entirely free to work out their will."

"Thus we see to-day what was never before seen in history—the satanic banners of war against God and against religion brazenly unfurled to the winds in the midst of all peoples and in all parts of the earth."

EXAGGERATED NATIONALISM

Of exaggerated nationalism, the pontiff said: "There is no excess that has not been justified."

"Abusing this love of country," he said, leads to "hatred, driving all to destruction." Sacred principles are "trampled upon" and "polluted."

Anton Tchekov's great tragic-comedy, "The Cherry Orchard," one of the outstanding successes of the world-famous Moscow Art Theatre, has been announced as the next production of the Repertory Playhouse, civic theatre, Seattle, according to word received here yesterday.

Referring to the unequal distribution of wealth, he recalled that previously he had advocated energetically "a more equitable distribution of the goods of the earth" to restore health "to the social body."

The Sketch Club of the Island Arts and Crafts met on Monday at Langford Lake, some spending the entire day there, others going out in the early afternoon. The dogwood and reflections in the lake afforded lovely subjects for sketching, the water lilies being also very fascinating material. Letters
Of Mimi

Victoria One of Four Most Beautiful Cities on the Continent—Visitor From South Also Admires Victorians—Advantages of Playing the Game of "Truth"—a Cure for Niggers

Dear Marge:—Two such opposite opinions, voiced by a lady from Los Angeles and the one I told you about in my last letter, would prefer to walk the block—if they were not driving an expensive make of car. This does not point any particular moral, but it is typical: I was told, of the atmosphere that Victorians create.

And speaking of faults and virtues, have you ever played the game of truth? Why should persons spend good money having a psycho-analyst tell them their faults when their friends are willing and anxious to do it? And under the guise of playing a game it is amazing the amount of criticism and fault-finding that can be given and taken! Laziness, indifference, intolerance, insincerity, selfishness, egotism, any of these faults and dozens of others, too numerous to mention, can be laid at the door of your friend without feeling any compunction, if you are playing "truth."

It might appear as a grand opportunity for being particularly "casty," although I have never seen it work that way. On the other hand I have seen it bring about a better understanding between two people, where a misunderstanding had existed.

Nancy Carroll's wish that she be shot at the age of ninety years by a jealous husband, prompts the question—does jealousy between the sexes exist at that age?

I read the other day that a London doctor says that indigestion is responsible for hating and ill-tempered wives, and prescribes the following cure: The patient is to go to bed for a month and eat only fresh milk and cream, toast, honey, butter, cheese, salads, vegetable soups and vegetables cooked in oil and puffed wheat. This will, he says, insure a sweet disposition and a long life. (I should think the same would apply in the case of nagging husbands.)

Au revoir, MIMI.

Competition For May Queen Honors

Ganges, May 18.—Competition is running high among the school children of the Island to secure May Queen honors for various candidates, who are as follows: Fernwood School, Joyce Bowden; Central Settlement, Melita Smith; Ganges, Gladys Winthrop; Divide, Rose Connery; Burgoyne Bay, Daisy McLennan; Isabella Point, Rose Amley; Beaver Point, Kathleen Stewart.

Mrs. G. Penning has been the guest of Capt. F. H. Walter and Miss Walter at Ganges Harbor for the last week.

Rev. W. Allan returned to Ganges on Saturday from New Westminster, where he attended the annual conference of the United Church.

Miss Maud Cunningham has returned to Central Settlement after being a patient for several days in the Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges.

"Mad Marriage"

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
Author of "Heart Hungry," Etc.
(Copyright by NEA Service Inc.)

Dressing became a ceremony. She put on her daintiest, most fragile undergarments. The chiffon gown was still a ruin. Gypsy had only one other that was suitable—a white crepe. She slipped it over her head. The white silk contrasted with the ivory of her arms. She studied the effect in the mirror and added a necklace of scarlet beads. That was better. She touched the stopper of the perfume bottle to the nape of her neck, her lips and the palms of her hands. Having done all that she could to make herself desirable she turned and went down the stairs.

She was alone in the living-room when Jim entered. If he was impressed by her appearance he said nothing about it. Gypsy went over to him. "I haven't told them," she said in a low voice. "Do you think we should?" Jim shook his head. "Announcing a divorce is hardly a subject to put guests at ease," he said coolly. "I think the announcement can wait." He had never spoken in that icy formal tone before.

They heard Anne and Phil coming down the stairs. There was no time to say anything further. Anne was in pink lace and seemed unusually animated. Phil boasted of the improvement in his golf game. Gratefully Gypsy let the others talk and sat back listening.

A little later they went in to dinner. Matilda had equalled the emergency. There was no evidence in the tasty dishes set before them that the meal was impromptu. It was better food than Gypsy had ever eaten at Anne Trowbridge's home. Again there was candle light and a gay floral centerpiece. How lovely Anne looked when she smiled!

"By George!" Phil Trowbridge spoke up. "You know I never realized before how much Gypsy looks like Anne!" "I've always thought they looked alike," Jim told him, "except of course that Anne's taller and her eyes are blue."

"And Anne doesn't have curly hair," Anne herself reminded him. "Aren't you slimmer than you were, Gypsy?" She said she did not know. It was untrue. Gypsy knew that her face had become thinner with the last five days. "Well, I'll tell you one thing," Anne continued, turning to Jim. "I had no idea when you married her that Gypsy was going to turn into such a perfect housewife. You two certainly must be comfortable!"

Jim's answer was sufficient if faintly evasive. Whereas Gypsy was quiet throughout the meal Jim did a great deal of talking. He repeated facts and figures about Forest City's growth and development until the girl was sure Phil and Anne must be bored.

Coffee was served in the living-room and at nine o'clock the quartette set out for the country club. They drove in Jim's roadster, with Gypsy and Phil racked into the rumble seat behind. That was an impossible arrangement because Phil took the conversation into his own hands and an occasional "yes" or "no" was all that was necessary from Gypsy.

They were already dancing when they arrived. There were colored lanterns strung about the edge of the broad veranda and swaying couples circled the floor. A few others were dancing inside. Some of the men were in white flannels.

Jim led the way up the steps and the girls left their wraps in a small side room. The two men were waiting when they reappeared. The orchestra was playing a melody that, for all its compelling rhythm, held notes of plaintive entreaty. It was the song of a lover pleading for his sweetheart.

They went out on the porch. Jim's arm circled Gypsy and they moved away together. Their steps matched perfectly. The girl's head was just above Jim's shoulder. Her heart pounded so that she dared not glance up. The music, the soft glow of the lanterns, the night breeze touching her cheeks softly, all inspired mad, ecstatic longings.

She felt Jim's arms pressing her more closely. Summoning all her courage Gypsy raised her head and met his eyes.

"Jim!" she murmured softly. "I had a letter to-day from Bruce."

he told her curtly. "The man I wrote to in Reno. It's all arranged if you want to leave Monday."

A couple danced past them and Gypsy recognized Anne Trowbridge's pink gown. Anne laughed and waved. Suddenly the music sounded harsh in Gypsy's ears. The porch with its deep paper lanterns and circling figures swam before her.

She managed to finish the dance but pleaded a headache and asked Jim to take her to a seat where she would get some cool air. Before he left her to find Anne and Phil she told him she would be ready to go away Monday.

So that was settled! Later Gypsy danced a waltz with Trowbridge but she did not dance again with Jim. They stayed at the club an hour longer and then drove home.

Breakfast next morning was served on the porch. Beyond in the sunshine the garden glistered, still wet with dew. Phil conceded that life away from the city did have advantages. After the second helping of feather-light omelet and four of Matilda's popovers, he was in a mood to be envious. Anne planned what they would do when Gypsy and Jim next visited New York.

Jim was an hour and a half late reaching the office. He stayed to see the Trowbridges drive away after gay farewells and urgent invitations to repeat their visit. There were tears in Gypsy's eyes as she said good-by, which Anne took as a touching bit of feeling. By 10 o'clock there was no one in the house by Gypsy and Matilda.

Gypsy went immediately to the kitchen. "We're changing our plans a little," she told Matilda. "Instead of taking our vacation trip in two weeks I'm staying Monday and Mr. Wallace will come later. He's decided to stay at the Carlton instead of keeping the house open. You can leave any time after lunch Monday. If Mr. Wallace doesn't give you your cheque be sure to remind me, will you?"

"You mean this Monday, ma'am? Day after to-morrow?" "That's right."

There were dark circles beneath Gypsy's eyes. She thought that Matilda looked at her rather curiously, and wondered if she guessed what was really taking place. She had heard that household servants always knew all about their employers' affairs. It had been a long time since she was to tell Matilda her services would no longer be needed. He would pay her in advance and there was no danger that a cook so skillful as Matilda would go long unemployed.

The small trunk which Gypsy had bought for the motor trip was upstairs in her room. She went upstairs, opened it and began to pack. The trunk and the old suitcase which she had brought with her to Forest City were her only pieces of luggage. Half a dozen times since she had known she was going away she had packed and then unpacked her belongings. There was nothing much to go into the trunk except the dresses and they could wait until Monday.

Jim did not come home until dinner time. Sunday he played golf, so that she was alone in the house most of the day. When he came home late in the afternoon Gypsy was sitting rather forlornly on the davenport with the fox terrier in her arms.

He took an envelope from his pocket. "Here's something I forgot to give you yesterday," he said, handing it to the girl. Gypsy opened the envelope. A folded bit of green paper which was her railroad ticket. A smaller pink stub for the Pullman reservation.

"I'll get some travelers' cheques in the morning," Jim continued, "and bring them out when I come to take you to the train."

"It isn't necessary for you to bother. I can take a cab and stop at your office."

He insisted a bit gruffly that he would come and drive her to the station. The train was to leave at 4.30. "If there's anything you want me to do I can come early," Jim offered. "Well, maybe you can," said Mrs. Longears. "But I'd like to hear you to make sure."

They discussed for what seemed like the hundredth time what Gypsy was to do in Reno. Suddenly the girl could stand it no longer. She jumped to her feet. "Why do you keep on telling me all that?" she demanded. "You've told me before. I don't want to hear it."

She put up her hands to her own room and locked the door. She listened but there was no sound downstairs until present the green roadster slid out the driveway. Though she was awake until after midnight she did not hear the car come back.

Monday dawned as fair and beautiful as an August day can be. There were the usual formal exchanges at the breakfast table. Wallace started to go, and then came back to remind Gypsy that he would be out in time to get to the train.

She nodded, not trusting herself to speak. All through the morning she kept Pat beside her. They went out to the garden and for the last time Gypsy looked at the flowers she had worked over and loved so. She wanted to remember the garden just as it was now with the golden glow and the asters and the dahlias in full bloom.

She went back to the house and surveyed each of the rooms. In the library she peered into Jim's desk with his books and his untidy papers that no one else was allowed to touch. "Oh, Pat!" she cried, dropping to her knees beside the fox terrier. "What am I going to do? What am I going to do?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Charlie Chick

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Charlie Chick, the rooster boy, was out in the yard back of his coop house, scratching in the dirt as all roosters do. Charlie's mother, Mrs. Chick, was watching her little rooster son from the back door. Charlie's sister Arabella was in the Hollow Stump School having her lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher.

Charlie Chick's mother had kept him home from school to have a talk with Uncle Wiggily about him. And for a very strange reason. As I told you in the story last night, CHARLIE WOULDN'T CROW!

Not a word of it! A rooster boy who didn't want to shout "Cock a doodle oo!" as all roosters do. It was so strange that even Uncle Wiggily was puzzled and he promised Mrs. Chick to do something about it. The rabbit gentleman had gone to a toy store and was now on his way back to the coop with him a toy called Peetle Pop Out.

"This ought to do the trick!" chuckled Mr. Longears as he came close to the chicken coop where Charlie was scratching dirt in the back yard. Holding Peetle Pop Out behind his back, Uncle Wiggily spoke to Charlie, saying: "What's this I hear about you, my little rooster? Your mother says you don't want to learn to crow."

"No, Uncle Wiggily, I don't," answered Charlie. "Once I thought it would be fun to be a crowing rooster. But now I think it's smarter not to crow, so I'm never going to do it."

"Can you crow?" asked the rabbit, sort of winking one eye at Mrs. Chick, who stood in the back doorway of the coop. "Of course I can crow!" said Charlie, scratching more dirt.

"Well, maybe you can," said Mr. Longears. "But I'd like to hear you to make sure."

BOVRIL

IS SPLENDID FOR CHILDREN
BUILDS UP THEIR STRENGTH

"Cock a doodle oo!" "How's that?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he pushed the door shut again with Peetle Pop Out inside the coop. "How was that, Charlie?" "A nice toy—for children," said Charlie, still indifferent like. "Once more the rabbit gentleman turned the button. Again Peetle Pop Out loudly crowed: 'Cock a doodle oo!'"

Uncle Wiggily and Mrs. Chick looked at each other. Then the rabbit said: "Oh, so that's the way to crow, is it, Charlie?" "Yes," answered Charlie with a smile. "That toy rooster can't crow a little bit. He's a good toy, but listen!" Again he cried: "Cock a doodle cock a doodle cock a doodle do!" "That's fine!" said Mr. Longears and Mrs. Chick clapped her wings and said: "Oh, I'm so glad my Charlie crowed!" And ever after that Charlie wasn't stubborn and crowed every day as roosters should. Uncle Wiggily took Peetle Pop Out, the toy rooster, home for Baby Bunty, who loved it. And if the jumping jack will please stop trying to climb on top of the piano to dance over the keys, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Runaway Robbie.

Shall Girls
Marry
For Love
Or Money

Dorothy Dix

Scores Efforts of Disillusioned
Mothers

The Mother Who Urges Her Daughter to Marry For Money Forgets That Its Purchasing Power Is Strictly Limited, and That When She Cuts Her Daughter Off From Love She Destroys Everything That Makes Marriage Worth While

IN SPITE of this being a material and a hard-boiled age, the question of whether a girl shall marry for love or money very seldom comes up, yet this problem was a common one in the sentimental Victorian age. Then girls had no way of getting a decent living except by marrying it, and marriage was not only woman's chief vocation, but her most profitable avocation, and, this being the case, every pretty maiden and her mamma naturally had a weather eye on the main chance and drove the best financial bargain they could. Nowadays, with every door of opportunity as wide open to women as to men with most women trained to some gainful occupation, girls can afford the luxury of marrying for love and probably not one in 10,000 is influenced in the slightest degree by the financial rating of the man she picks out for a husband. Never before in the whole history of the world could a man be so sure that he was being married for himself alone as he is now.

Still, every now and then a girl comes and weeps upon my breast and tells me that her mother opposes her marrying the poor boy with whom she is in love, and urges her to marry some rich, middle-aged suitor who can give her a fine home and cars and Paris finery and surround her with luxuries.

"But," the girl will say, "I told mother: 'You married for love,' and mother replied, 'Yes, and I found out the folly of it. For romance does not last. Husbands do not stay lovers. After men have been married for two or three years they all look alike to their wives, and then it is a question of an establishment. What they can give you is a consolation prize and, believe me, daughter, there is mighty little pay that the poor man's wife gets for all she goes through. It is because I am trying to save you from a life like mine that I am urging you to marry money.'"

The same old argument that mothers have used from time immemorial. "With their little horde of maxims preaching down a daughter's head," as Tennyson put it. Nor is the mother as sordid as she seems. Rather is she pathetic. For she is not trying to sell her daughter in the marriage market for gain for herself. She is only attempting to save the girl from throwing herself away for an illusion.

Her life has been a hard one. Ceaseless work and anxiety, cooking and washing and scrubbing and baby-tending. Penny-pinching and scrimping. Shabby clothes, cheap houses and furniture. Few amusements, and, worst of all, the loss of the dream that would have made all the sacrifices sweet, all the labor worth while. Her Fairy Prince turned into a grumpy, indifferent husband who never gave her a word of tenderness or praise, or noticed when she was sick or tired.

And all about her other poor women leading the same drab lives. All husbands apparently cut off the same pattern, the only difference seemingly among them being that some men could give their wives soft and easy lives and other men could not. Small wonder that the tired, discouraged, disillusioned mother thinks that the chaffs of romance are not worth buying at the price of a life of drudgery and advises her daughter to invest her all in something more substantial that she can depend upon after the honeymoon has set.

But I think the mothers who urge their daughters to marry for money are altogether wrong. First, because money does not buy happiness in marriage. You cannot purchase thrills over the counter. You cannot sweeten kisses with money. If you had all the wealth of the Indies, you could not buy a panacea for boredom with the society of a husband who did not interest you and who got on your nerves and whose companionship you had to endure day after day.

The poorest girl and boy who marry for love have something glorious that millions upon the top of millions could not purchase. The girl who starts housekeeping in a two-by-four flat or a cheap bungalow that they are paying for on the installment plan and who makes her own curtains and scrubs her own floors finds more happiness in it, and it is more of a home if she shares it with the husband she loves than she will ever find in a palace if she is tied to a man to whom she sold herself because he could give her town and country houses. The purchasing power of money is strictly limited. There are no dollar-and-cent marks on the most important things in life.

Then the woman who urges her daughter to marry for money is very often a poor financial prophet and she cannot foresee that the good catch of to-day may be the down-and-out of ten or twenty years hence, while the poor boy may have turned into a millionaire.

Also, the girl who marries for money misses the most soul-satisfying experience that can ever come to a woman—that of helping her husband make his fortune; that of being a real helpmeet and sharing in all of his hopes and plans and adventures and ambitions and triumphs.

That is real romance, and that is the happiness that has come to thousands of women who have been good enough sports to marry on a scheming and fight the great battle out with their husbands. And did they have fun? They will tell you so, and that they got more pleasure out of helping to make their money than they ever had out of spending it.

Five Famous Authors

III.—ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON
"My son is a failure."
The father of Robert Louis Stevenson held that opinion when his son was a young man but later events proved that the opinion was a mistake.

The elder Stevenson was a successful engineer and wanted his son to be an engineer, but Robert did not greatly enjoy his engineering studies at Edinburgh University. His dreams were dreams of becoming a writer.

Robert Louis Stevenson

As a child, Robert was frail, and sickly. He could take little part in the sports of other boys. Some of the boys were unkind enough to make fun of him.

Some of the students called him "Velvet-Jacket."
After leaving college, Stevenson went to France—in search of better health. His lungs were weak—until the end of his life he suffered from tuberculosis.

Yes, he suffered from a dread disease; but he was brave. To the small strength of his body, he added the mighty power of his spirit, and fought the good fight.

In France he fell in love with an American woman. After she returned to her home in California, he decided to cross the Atlantic and visit her. The trip was long and hard, but it ended in a very happy marriage.

Among the famous books by Stevenson are "Treasure Island," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Kidnapped," and "Travel With a Donkey." The Dr. Jekyll story was based on a dream, or nightmare, which came to the author. In his thirty-ninth year, Stevenson went to the Island of Samoa, where he lived until his death five years later. The Samoans liked him very much, and called him "Tusitala," meaning "Teller of Tales." They also spoke of him as the Great White Chief. On the island he wrote "Ebb Tide" and other tales about South Sea life.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 19, 1932

Astrologers read this as rather an inauspicious day. It is a time in which to proceed carefully in all important matters. Unrest among farmers again is indicated and weather conditions may be unfavorable. Unusual storms are predicted for certain places. This should be a fairly lucky day for seeking employment, but city-dwellers will be more successful than those who live in the country. It is a promising day for those who have political ambitions, but seems to prestage hard-fought battles of ballots. The stars seem to forecast for men of power in finance or in public affairs an excess of popularity, owing to important services to the people. Under this planetary government it may be unfortunate to start any important project, for sudden changes of moment are forecasted. This is not a lucky day for lovers and seems to presage delays in plans or misunderstandings. The stars predict in marriages a tendency to enter into new obligations cautiously. Music and the arts may have a period of inactivity owing to much interest in sports and amusements. The stars are read as indicating for the summer extraordinary concern for athletic feats and many visitors from all parts of the world. Again the stars warn that betting and gambling will be more prevalent than usual in the coming summer. Speculation also will intrigue many persons who have learned little from past experience. New forms of courtship luck will be introduced. Persons whose birthdate it is to have the anxiety of a year of much temptation toward extravagance. They should safeguard their money. Children born on this day probably will be eager for success that wins wide recognition. Many subjects of this sign court fame. Madame Nellie Melba, noted singer, was born on this day, 1865. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Carl Philip Alexey, 1864, famous African explorer; Johann Gottlieb Fichte, 1762, German philosopher. (Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Forty-five-foot Orchid. Orchids grow tall in Queensland. One found in the southern part recently was forty-five feet high and bore hundreds of beautiful flowers. One spike was six feet in length.

Miss Besse Archer, Shawanigan Lake, visited friends here recently. Mrs. H. G. Rough and family have returned from a short visit with relatives in Victoria. Among the visitors to Jordan River last week were: Mrs. M. Buck, Chicago, Ill.; Miss Betty Moncrieff; Miss Elsie Hannan and Hugh Hannan, San Francisco, Cal.; F. Douglas Elford, Shawanigan Lake; Mr. and Mrs. L. Hafer and family, Misses Daphne Pooley and Eleanor Helsterman, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. W. ## When A Family Needs A Friend

A solemn obligation rests on the funeral director. He should place himself in the position of a true friend and adviser. It is his duty to advise a selection which the family can afford without financial hardship. If he is honest with himself and his patrons, he will always point out that a funeral need not be expensive in order to be comforting and complete. Residents of Victoria know that for 65 years this firm has served the community honorably and well. Visit our public Advisory Department, or write for our booklet, "Before Sorrow Comes."

Word Flashed Here By Radio From Craft Recently Equipped

Braving the wild seas off Amphitrite Point on the West Coast, the crew of Provincial Police launch No. 7 yesterday afternoon rescued an Indian in a disabled launch and towed him to safety, according to word flashed to headquarters here by radio from the launch.

The police launch, in charge of Corporal A. Dunbar, was proceeding on its regular patrol of the Coast when the lookout man sighted the Indian craft floundering dangerously near the jagged rocks at the entrance to Barkley Sound, and showing distress signals.

At considerable risk the police craft drove alongside the launch and threw a line aboard. When this was secured the launch, which had a broken tail shaft, was towed into calmer water and another Indian craft towed it to safety. The police launch proceeded on its patrol.

FLASH WORD HERE
Within five minutes of the rescue word was flashed to headquarters in Victoria by means of the radio apparatus which was installed upon the launch only last week. Authorities radioed congratulations to the men on their work.

The rescue served to draw attention to the increased efficiency of the police launch patrol as a result of the installation of radio, P.M.L. No. 7 patrolled along the Alberni Canal and through Barkley Sound to Kyquot. By means of the radio it is in constant touch with headquarters, thus eliminating delay in the case of emergency or tragedy on the Coast and giving an added element of safety to the residents of the Coast.

Corporal Dunbar aboard the launch was the engineer, and A. L. Frost of Alberni, the radio operator.

LIQUOR OFFICE NOT INVOLVED

Chairman of Kidd Committee Denies Rumor Headquarters to Go to Vancouver

Relinquishment of the liquor warehouse in Victoria and the subsequent transfer of the headquarters to Vancouver, was rumored to be one of the recommendations to be submitted to the Provincial Government by the volunteer Kidd committee now conducting an exhaustive study of Provincial Government affairs with a view to bringing in suggestions for economy in provincial administration.

George Kidd, chairman of the committee, today denied that his committee had even investigated the Liquor Control Board administration, much less recommending the abandonment of the Victoria warehouse and the transfer of the head offices to Vancouver.

The Victoria warehouse supplies vendors' stores in various centres of Vancouver Island and in normal times employs between sixty and seventy men. Some years ago removal of the headquarters and warehouse to Vancouver was suggested and resulted in much agitation locally, motion being introduced in the Legislative Assembly by a Victoria member calling for the headquarters of the board to be maintained at the seat of government. Assurance was given, it is understood, by the then Liquor Board head to the government, that no change was contemplated and the agitation died down.

Court Told of Dispute in Chinatown on Night of May 6

Hearing opened in the City Police Court this morning of Fong Wing on a charge of stabbing Lay Hing in a Chinese chop suey place here on May 6. Both are Chinese.

Wing pleaded not guilty and Frank Higgins, K.C., and Gordon Cameron, acting for the prosecution, commenced the case which went on this afternoon. O. J. Boulton is defending.

Lay Hing, in the box, testified that he had met Wing in the chop suey house and asked him about some money that was owing him. An altercation followed in which Hing was stabbed. He was in hospital for five days afterwards.

BIG EVENTS LURE TRAVEL

Prospects Loom Excellent For Hotel Resort Season, Says H. F. Matthews

Large Conventions on Pacific Coast Will Swell Movement Through Mountains

Based on his views upon reservations that have already been made and the number of inquiries received through the company's booking offices from prospective travelers, the 1932 tourist season at the mountain resort hotels will be a good one, H. F. Matthews, general manager of Canadian Pacific western hotels, stated today on arrival from Winnipeg.

"Prospects for the approaching season are decidedly encouraging, although it is a little early as yet to give a satisfactory estimate on the season's mountain resort business," said Mr. Matthews. "Inquiries are brisk and we are looking for a good year."

He announced that the Banff Springs Hotel would be opened for the season on May 28, and Lake Louise Chalet on June 15.

Several large conventions which will be held at the Pacific Coast Hotel, which will attract considerable business to the C.P.R. mountain hotels, in the opinion of Mr. Matthews.

LARGE PARTIES COMING
Preparations are being made for the holding of large parties of delegates to the great Shrine and Rotary conventions, the former at Los Angeles and the latter at Seattle. Special trains carrying delegates to these conventions will be routed over the C.P.R. system. Additional travel will also be routed this way by the Olympic Games at Los Angeles and the Pacific All Men's Convention at Vancouver.

Victoria will be the centre of the Delta Gamma convention this summer, which will bring over 400 co-eds here. This party will also be entertained at the mountain resorts.

Likes Garden City
Mr. Matthews was in Vancouver for a week before crossing the gulf and he expects to remain here for several days.

He had to come to Victoria to see the flowers, he said, speaking of the garden hotel of the system. "The wealth of bloom here is wonderful. On his way east Mr. Matthews will call at Banff and Lake Louise to arrange for the opening of the mountain hotels.

JUDGE ARRIVES HERE TO-NIGHT

T. J. Wellman Will Preside at Colwood Races; T. McAvoy New Timekeeper

To act as presiding judge at the seven-day meet to open at the Colwood mile track on Saturday afternoon T. J. Wellman, Vancouver, will arrive in Victoria to-night. It was announced by directors of the Colwood Park Association to-day, that Wellman has been closely associated with horse racing in British Columbia for many years and is recognized as one of the leading judges in the sport.

Wellman is no stranger to local tracks, having officiated as presiding judge at the old Willows track during the ninety-day meet in 1912. Wellman will look over the Colwood track to-day and will have plans for the opening of the season with directors of the Colwood Association.

It was announced to-day that Teddy McAvoy, veteran Victoria horseman, would act as official timekeeper at the opening meet.

Train Derailed, Court Motors

Judge, Jury and Officials Have to Call Upon Several Automobiles

Site of Kapoor Town Swept Desolate By Flames Becomes Trial Scene

A derailed freight train a few miles out of Victoria forced Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, the special jury of eight, lawyers and court officials to embark several motor cars over rough logging roads in order to reach what is left of the town of Kapoor, thirty-five miles north of Victoria on the line of the Canadian National Railway.

The whole court taking part in the trial of the quarter million dollar damage suit of the Kapoor Lumber Company against the railway, moved from the courthouse here yesterday at noon to make a first-hand investigation of the town. The company claims that the fire which swept the town, the mill and the residences, destroyed $200,000 of finished lumber, drove out and rendered desolate all the inhabitants, started from a fire on the railway right-of-way.

Under special instructions from the presiding justice, the visit of the jury to the scene of desolation was made in silence so that no comments could influence their views. From the top of a hill they looked down into a valley which had held the busy town, with railway yards running in various directions, but all now a mass of blackened ruins. One locomotive and a string of railway cars were caught in the holocaust of flames. The judge said provision would be made for the court to make another visit, to the town and go over it all with detailed discussion after the evidence was completed.

Upon resumption of the trial in the courthouse here to-day, the evidence of Teja Singh, one of the mill employees, was read into the record.

J. S. Hundal is the official interpreter for the Hindu witnesses, all of whom the judge has allowed to take the Christian oath. Fore Saw, a Chinese, however, was sworn in court by the burning paper oath.

Other witnesses heard include: Bishan Singh, Kishan Singh, Karan Singh, Nagara, Mayo Singh and Reginald C. Wood.

R. L. Maitland, chief counsel for the lumber company, has not yet completed his case. It is expected it will not be before the end of the week that E. C. Mayers, K.C., chief counsel for the railway, will open the case for the defence.

PARK TROUBLES INVESTIGATED

Golfers and Automobiles Worry Officials at Beacon Hill

Remodeling of regulations governing control of the city parks, especially in relation to Beacon Hill Park, is under consideration by the parks committee in conjunction with the superintendent. It was announced this morning by Alderman John Worthington, the chairman.

Complaints regarding golfers practicing on the playing field and of heavy motor traffic endangering pedestrians had been received, he said, and would be investigated.

Considerable trouble, he continued, had been caused by golfers who go out on the long green stretches to practice their driving. Children playing in the open spaces are liable to injury from the balls. Ald. Worthington said, and this practice will not be tolerated.

A study of the traffic conditions may result in some of the park roads being closed. It is stated, interested parties pointed to the fact that in several large cities motor traffic is forbidden in some parks.

SENTENCED FOR WOUND ATTEMPT

Family Dispute Led to Trouble on Russell Street, Court Told

Convicted of an attempt to wound John Geddes with a knife, Louis Vacherease was sentenced to two months imprisonment by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning.

The charge was laid as the result of some family trouble in the Vacherease home on Russell Street.

It was alleged that Mrs. Vacherease went to the apartment of Mr. Geddes asking protection from her husband, who followed her and was alleged to have attempted to stab Mr. Geddes. Magistrate Jay said it was apparent the thing had been done in a fit of temper. As the accused had not been in trouble before, the sentence was lighter than it might have been.

ADmits FRAUD ON AUTOMOBILE

D. McKenzie Awaits Sentence For Securing Car By Means of Bogus Cheque

Donald McKenzie, who was caught after a chase by Constable Douglas Bone through Chinatown yesterday evening, pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of obtaining a car from the Beggs Motor Company by false pretences last Wednesday.

McKenzie was alleged to have tendered a worthless cheque for the down payment on a $366.75 car. It was alleged he took the car up-island and received a deposit for a resale but failed to complete the deal and drove away with the car, later abandoning it.

Constable Bone yesterday evening chased him down Figard Street near the police station, along Government Street, down Herald Street and across a vacant lot before he caught him scrambling over a fence.

Magistrate Jaw reserved sentence until to-morrow.

C. Docile, alias J. Crook, wanted by the Vancouver police, was arrested shortly after McKenzie by Detectives F. Woodburn and H. Jarvis. Constable Bone put them on his trail and they caught him in the yards of the Victoria Gas Company.

MEETING TOLD OF ATLIN DAYS

Rotary and North Saanich Service Clubs Hear Alfred Carmichael

The North Saanich Service Club and the Victoria Rotary Club held a joint meeting yesterday evening in the club-rooms of the Saanich organization. The large attendance from both organizations included many ladies and friends. Dr. William Newton, president of the North Saanich Club, occupied the chair and welcomed the visitors.

An address on the early days of the Atlin gold rush of 1899 was given by Alfred Carmichael, who told of experience gained during nine years' residence in the Atlin district. Mr. Carmichael illustrated his narrative of placer mining with humorous incidents of life in northern British Columbia. He stressed the enormous value to Canada which would accrue from a major gold discovery at this time. Touching upon the place now held by Canada as a gold producing country, Mr. Carmichael said this country could greatly improve her financial position by an increased gold output provided the countries of the world continued to adhere to the gold standard.

Capt. M. F. Macintosh, M.P.P., proposed a toast to the visiting Rotarians, to which Percy Watson replied as president of the Victoria Rotary Club.

The entertainment programme was jointly provided by members of both clubs, among the contributors being Frank Spooner, Miss Marjorie Bull, Robert Webb and others. Dancing followed the entertainment programme.

Losses At Winnipeg
As Wheat Pit Reacts
To Liverpool Market

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, May 18.—Reflecting lagged action of wheat quotations at Liverpool, prices in all three wheat futures underwent moderate setbacks in the grain pit today. Values at the close were 1/4 to 1/2 lower.
May closed 1/4 lower at 62 1/2, July eased 1/4 to 1, at 62 1/2 to 63, and October a like amount to 65 1/2.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, May 18.—Wheat.—The Winnipeg wheat market was under selling pressure right from the opening bell to day, the selling becoming quite heavy around mid-session, all of which was understood to be back spreading by Chicago interests. The local crowd were caught long after buying against their bids and were in turn forced to unload, thus adding to the weakness. Prices were lower throughout and on the extreme break were 1/4 to 1/2 under the close of last night.
The buying power was rather thin, the market turning into some resting orders for seaboard account while the buying against the daily bids. Export sales over night were quite small and Brookhills reported the local market as very dull. A few loads of Manitoba were worked and some small quantities of hard winters were reported.
Very unfavorable reports were received from the south. From Nebraska it was said, "The final brood of the Hessian fly, the one that does the actual damage to wheat, is developing very fast in the wheat still standing in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska. Some fields have been laid bare by the pest and serious damage is anticipated, as many fields are literally alive with flies." Fargo, N.D., reported a grasshopper plague of the most gigantic proportions in many years in North Dakota, and weather is favorable for destroying the hoppers. Serious damage is looked for.
Bradstreet's North American shipments 9,000,000 bushels. The Chicago market was stronger than Winnipeg throughout, but the weakness here finally pulled the southern market down. In the cash market, there was a good demand for wheat to fill tonnage, particularly No. 2 northern and No. 4 wheat. Spreads were unchanged except No. 4 wheat, which was 1/2 cent better. Winnipeg futures closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.
Coarse grains.—There was some fair buying of barley during the first part of the day, but outside of this there was very little trading in the coarse grains. Markets held firm and there was no pressure in evidence, but the markets were generally quiet.
Flax.—Dull and uninteresting, a little easier tendency, closing 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Liverpool due 1/2 to 1/2 lower, based on Winnipeg.

THIRD TERM FOR MR. GRAY

Religious Education Council Re-elects President at Annual Meeting

Reports Presented Show Organization Has Grown and Accomplished Fine Work

The Religious Education Council yesterday evening held its annual meeting at the Y.W.C.A. and re-elected Rev. Bruce G. Gray as president for a third term. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Rev. E. W. P. Carter; recording secretary, Mrs. W. C. Wilkinson; corresponding secretary, Miss Margaret Freeman; treasurer, John G. Simpson; executive members, G. A. A. Hedden and Alderman W. T. Straith; chairmen of denominational boards of religious education, Rev. A. G. E. Munson, Anglican; Rev. A. O. Thomson, Presbyterian; Rev. M. S. Richardson, Baptist, and Rev. M. W. Lees, United Church.

Right Rev. C. D. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, the principal speaker, discussed "The One Thing Needful." He said churchmen should not put narrow limits on what was called religion; they should combine teaching with worship, endeavor to awaken a sense of the largeness of the universe and should stress the fact that religion should be both idealistic and realistic. Bishop Schofield summed up "The One Thing Needful" by quoting an unofficial translation of a New Testament text: "Let the peace of God stand over your thinking." In conclusion the bishop warmly praised the work being carried on by the council.

The annual report presented by Mr. Gray, as president, showed substantial progress during the year. The twenty-three churches affiliated in 1930 had increased to thirty-three, with an enrollment of 200. The young people were showing marked interest in the work being conducted by the council, and Mr. Gray referred to the willing cooperation accorded him by the executive and the members.

The report presented by Mrs. Wilkinson, secretary, stressed the spirit of fellowship which had been developed within the organization, and commented that the mingling of denominations has resulted in development of a broader outlook.

Edward Scruton, Vancouver, representing the provincial board of the Religious Education Council, praised the work of the Victoria organization.

The report of the vacation school committee was presented by Miss Mary Wallace and showed the school held last year had been attended by eighty-eight students from six denominations and twelve Sunday schools. She reported that plans were in hand for another vacation school this year and anticipated a larger attendance with a wider representation.

Other reports of committees were presented as follows: Mrs. A. M. Nalmsmith, children; Miss Gladys Beall, girls' work; Gordon Fields, boys' work; Jack Aylin, young people; Vivian Shoemaker, boys' camp; and Miss M. Chow, standard training school.

Mrs. Nalmsmith presented flowers to the officers.

VICTORIA HIGH DEBATERS WIN

Joyce Applegate and Linda Smith Defeat University School in Final

Mussolini's Dictatorship in Italy Has Been Beneficial Debaters Convince Judges

The debating team of Joyce Applegate and Linda Smith, representing the Victoria High School, defeated Rowan Coleman and John Mackey, University School, in the finals of the interschool debating league for the shield presented by the Modern History Club of Victoria High School, yesterday afternoon in the high school library.

Following the debate William McPhee, vice-president of Modern History Club, presented the shield to the winners. St. Margaret's School was the winner last year. The topic under debate was: "Resolved that Mussolini's Dictatorship is Beneficial to Italy."

Joyce Applegate, first speaker for the affirmative, gave a brief resume of conditions in Italy before the advent of Fascism under Mussolini. She stressed the reduction of the huge annual government deficit, the death of strikes and the motto of "everything for the state." The political and industrial programmes of the Fascist regime showed a more democratic condition than before.

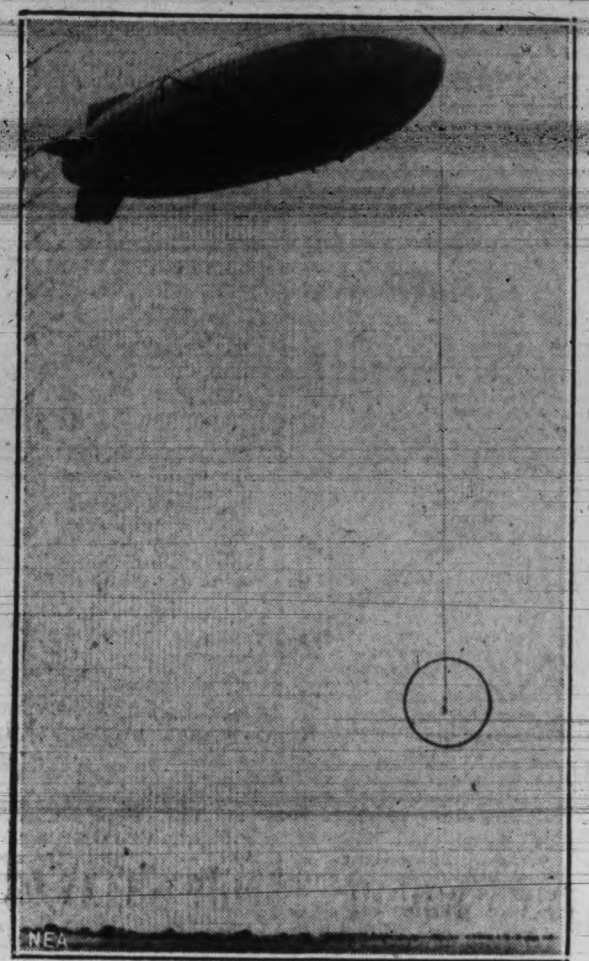

Rowan Coleman, opening for the negative, stressed the fact that Italy was not doing its part in disarmament. He stated Italy was "roaring under the greatest national stress that we have seen due to its national and militaristic ideas." He pointed out that in Italy the average man was not allowed his freedom as elsewhere.

Linda Smith, second affirmative speaker, said Mussolini had reduced Italy's imports by practically half in connection with wheat. Great engineering programmes were at present in progress, and foreign markets had been established by an enlarged mercantile marine service. Miss Smith declared that under Mussolini Italy had achieved a marvelous change for the better in educational circles ranging in scope from elementary schools to the universities.

John Mackey, final speaker, claimed Mussolini had changed the former's powerful parliament "into a mere debating society." He mentioned that Mussolini had destroyed the trade unions and set up his own which were restricted to Fascists and maintained Italy was nothing more than a medieval autocracy.

The judges, Frank Gilmour, B. C.

AS TRIO CLUNG TO AKRON'S ROPE— AND LIFE—BEFORE DEATH TOOK TWO

A thrilling, tragic drama of the air was being enacted before a transfixed throng at Camp Kearney, San Diego, Calif., when the top picture was taken, showing three members of the ground crew (in circle) clinging to a landing rope from the U.S. dirigible Akron after they had been swept aloft during an attempt to moor the huge airship. After this photo was taken, two of the men lost their grip and were dashed to death. In the lower picture Robert "Bud" Cowart is shown shaking hands with Commander C. E. Rosendahl of the Akron, after he had reached the earth after hanging from the big dirigible for two hours. Cowart, a member of the ground crew, was able to hold on to the rope and was finally rescued by being pulled by a rope into the Akron.

Nicholas and Prof. P. Elliot, were unanimous in their decision.

Following the debate tea was served in the cafeteria.

SPEAKERS ARE GIVEN PRIZES

W. H. Wilson Wins Cup For Best Five-minute Speech Before Round Table Club

Presentation of a special cup to W. H. Wilson for the best five-minute talk given during the club's winter dinner season and another trophy, the Ananias Cup for the "tallest yarn" to J. H. McConnell, featured the informal meeting of the Round Table Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening.

Plans were also made for an outing to Leechtown and Sooke on Sunday, May 29.

Mr. Wilson's prize-winning speech delivered some time ago, was entitled "School Problems." Harold Patterson, originator of the five-minute-talk scheme, donated the cup which was presented by Alderman W. T. Straith, president of the club.

Dr. D. W. Graham sketched arrangements for the Sooke outing. The trip would start at 7 o'clock from the corner of Douglas and Fort Streets, and would include a hike over the Leech River country and jaunts to Sooke Lake. Cars would be used on the latter trip, he said.

The Ananias Cup contest closed the meeting.

Wolf-fish Hooked By Chemainus Men

Chemainus, May 18.—William Wilson of Chemainus, accompanied by C. Donaldson, using a 150-foot line and a home-made jigger, caught a wolf-fish off Hospital Rock yesterday morning, which measured 4 feet 10 inches in length. A description of the fish was telephoned to the biological station at Departure Bay, and the official in charge there identified it, stating that some half-dozen wolf-fish had been sent in, averaging one a year for some years past.

CITY TEMPLE TO MEET ON SUNDAY

Annual Gathering and Election of Board of Managers Will Be Held

The annual general meeting of the Victoria City Temple will be held on Sunday afternoon next at 3 o'clock in the City Temple. This meeting will mark the eighth anniversary of the organization. The board of managers, fifteen officials, will be elected for the ensuing year. George Holt, in his fourth year as president, will preside. This will be the first time the anniversary function and annual meeting have been held in the Temple's own building. This year the construction of the spacious auditorium in which the congregation now worships was completed.

Reports will be received on Sunday afternoon from the sub-organizations concerning the last year's work. While the finances of the church are stated not to be in a flourishing condition, loyal and sacrificial support from the membership has made it possible during the last two months to meet the general overhead expenses and in addition to pay one thousand dollars on past indebtedness on local city accounts.

Nominations for the board of management will be received at the church office up to Friday evening.
